

Busy Council Session Set

City Seeks Money for Mini-Buses

KINGSTON In a major step toward revamping Kingston's floundering "mass transportation" system, Mayor Francis R. Koenig will ask the common council for permission tonight to apply for $89,356 in state and federal aid for the purchase of three air conditioned mini-buses.

The council meets for its regular monthly session at 7:30 p.m. at City Hall.

Koenig's letter to the council states that funding is available through a joint program administered by the United States Department of Transportation and the New York State Department of Transportation.

The mayor notes that application will be made for $75,247 in federal funds and $14,109 in state funds for the purchase of three 18-23 passenger, air conditioned, diesel-powered mini buses. The total cost of the package is $94,059; the maximum city share is $4,703, or five per cent of the total.

Koenig urges quick council action to meet the application submission deadline dates.

According to the mayor, expansion of existing bus routes in the city would be contemplated should the city receive the grant. He noted that the new buses could also be used for recreation department transportation.

At present, the city's mass transit system consists of one bus, confined to the immediate Broadway area.

In what is expected to be a busy session tonight, the council will also receive a $250,000 claim from Roland A. Augustine, who claims that city negligence is responsible for damage incurred to his Colonial Cooperative Insurance Agency Building (situated on an urban renewal parcel off Washington Avenue Extension), caused by seepage from the adjoining Utility Platters building.

The council will also hear a zoning change request from Vigal Bash of Poughkeepsie, who seeks to construct a 122-unit apartment complex on Linderman Avenue.

Mayoral appointments to the Historic Landmarks Preservation Committee, the Urban Renewal Committee and the Kingston Housing Authority will also be considered.

Retired Doctor Is Robbed

POUGHKEEPSIE

A large team of armed bandits burst into the home of a retired Poughkeepsie doctor Monday night as the elderly man and his wife were eating supper. The thieves, believed to have been as many as seven, got only $150 for their troubles.

"We were in the dining room eating supper when they walked right in the kitchen door as if they owned the place," Dr. Victor A. Bacile, 73, of 73 Mansion Street told the Freeman today.

"They told us not to move and one pointed a gun about six inches from my head and said 'We want money,'" Dr. Bacile said. "We gave them what we had."

The robbers got about $150 in cash. Dr. Bacile said as many as seven men may have been involved in the robbery.

All of the men wore handkerchiefs over their faces except one—the man who carried the gun. "The one with the gun was brazen," the indignant doctor said.

Neither Dr. Bacile nor his wife were called to the Bacile residence shortly after the thieves departed at about 6:35 p.m. said the robber without a mask was clean shaven and well-dressed. He was described as a black man over six feet tall and wore black, long brimmed hat and a green and white mackinaw coat. The remaining robbers, who may have numbered as few as three according to police, where also black, authorities said. Their descriptions were not immediately available.

Poughkeepsie Police, who were injured.

Fire Destroys Area Motel

PINE HILL

Fire raced through an uncoccupied 100-room hotel in this western Ulster County village, Monday night leaving a mass of smoldering ruins in its wake.

Pine Hill Fire Chief Everett Goens said the blaze, of undetermined but apparently not suspicious origin, was already well advanced when volunteers arrived at the scene shortly after 6 p.m.

The 4½-story building now operated as "Fitzgerald's" and formerly known as the Fun Crest Hotel, was closed Monday and on one was reported to be in the recently renovated structure.

Goens said there were no injuries reported to firemen.

The Phoenicia and Shandaken fire departments were also called out to stand by at the Pine Hill and Big Indian firehouses.

All Quiet in Newburgh

NEWBURGH, N.Y. (UPI) —

Students at Newburghs high school returned to classes in the racially troubled city today without incident.

The pupils filed into Newburgh Free Academy—which was closed part of last week because of the racial tension—with no outward signs of hostility. A small group of blacks passed out leaflets off school property.

The leaflets urged black and Hispanic students to stand together. There are approximately 2,100 white students and 500 minority pupils in the school.

Over a loudspeaker in the school, the principal told the pupils that outside problems black community and the had been introduced and that protests centered around police the school was being used as a "battleground" for the com department and the public munitys social ills. He urged schools.

Tax exemption on savings account interest—

You've told us you're for it. Now tell your Congressman.

Urge him to vote for this important new income tax exemption.

On October 8 the House Ways and Means Committee approved a bill that would grant a tax exemption on interest earned from savings accounts—up to $500 for an individual account and up to $1,000 for a joint account. This bill may go to the House floor for a vote any day now.

But as happens with almost any legislation, it is meeting with opposition.

This bill deserves all the help it can get. Including yours.

If passed into law, this measure would benefit every savings depositor in the country, importantly including the millions of low- and middle-income savers. It could bring $10-billion or more of new deposits into savings accounts, most of which would go into mortgage loans. This in turn would stimulate housing starts, increase the manufacture of building supplies, create jobs—all of which could generate more tax revenue for the U.S. Treasury than would be lost through the new income tax exemption.

Here is what has been done so far to support this legislation.

Hundreds of thousands of savings depositors have signed petitions urging passage of this measure. More than 34,000 people have clipped, signed and mailed the coupons contained in advertisements previously run by the Savings Banks of New York State. Many of these people have asked, "What else can we do to help?" This is our answer.

Fill out and mail this new coupon to the Representative in Congress from your District, urging that he or she vote in favor of this bill. Or if you prefer, send the entire ad and write a note of your own in the white space. Either way, it will take only a few seconds, and you will be doing something to help the country's economy and your own.

The Honorable
The United States House of Representatives
Washington, D.C. 20515

I want to express my support of the legislation that would give tax exemption to interest income from personal savings accounts.

Please cast your vote in favor of this bill.

Chemist Says Father Asked About Cyanide

HOUSTON (UPI) — A chemist testified Ronald Clark O'Bryan asked him how much cyanide it takes to kill someone less than two months before O'Bryan's 8-year-old son was fatally poisoned by tainted Halloween candy.

O'Bryan was indicted Monday on charges of murdering his son Timothy, and of attempting to murder his daughter Elizabeth, 5. He also was indicted on charges of the attempted murder of three other children, Kimberly Bates, 11, her brother, Mark, 8, and Whitney Parker, 10.

Bob Terry, 42, an employee of Arco Chemical Co., in suburban Pasadena, Tex., where O'Bryan worked as a lab technician for a year, said O'Bryan called him in early September to ask about cyanide.

"He asked if just anyone could buy it and I told him I didn't think just anyone could," Terry testified during a hearing requested by the defense.

"He asked how much it would take to be fatal. My response was, 'What do you need to know that for?' The conversation ran out right after that."

"He said he was taking a course at San Jacinto (junior college) in chemistry," Terry said. "He said he had a discussion with his professor concerning cyanides and said he was curious about the professor's competence."

Assistant District Attorney Mike Hinton said the grand jury's indictment of O'Bryan on the capital murder charges "states the alleged murder was for the purpose of remuneration (money), namely several life insurance policies on their child."

O'Bryan, 30, who appeared in court dressed in a lavender shirt and brown checked pants, nervously chewed a pencil during nearly three hours of testimony. He smiled occasionally, but otherwise showed no emotion.

He was charged with giving the candy-filled straws laden with cyanide to his two children, the Bates children and young Parker, a neighbor.

Mrs. Jean Bates, mother of Kimberly, said Timothy's mother, Daylene O'Bryan, told her the family was having financial difficulties.

Ex-Captain's Bid Turned Down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court Monday rejected a request by former Army captain Howard B. Levy that his conviction be stayed and his case be argued along with another military matter scheduled for December.

Levy, then a Brooklyn dermatologist, was convicted by courtmartial for refusing to train soldiers bound for Vietnam. He challenged the constitutionality of the military code invoked against him but the Supreme Court ruled it constitutional last June in a landmark decision.

His conviction was then affirmed by the 3rd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Among other things, Levy claims his civilian lawyer was improperly denied access to classified documents. This is one of the issues raised by M. Sgt. Raymond G. DeChamplain, base, whose appeal in a secret documents case is up for argument in December.

Seven Races Remain Undecided

By United Press International

Winners of elections in four Senate races, for Alaska's statehouse and three House seats are still undecided a week after the 1974 elections and the results may not be known for several more weeks.

Recounts are expected in close Senate contests in Oklahoma, North Dakota, Nevada and New Hampshire. House races are in doubt in Nebraska, Maine and Louisiana.

In Oklahoma, Democrat Ed Edmondson goes to court today to challenge his apparent defeat for the Senate by Republican incumbent Henry Bellmon.

Edmondson lost by 3,835 votes, mainly on Bellmon's 18,583 majority in Tulsa County. Edmondson carried the rest of the state by 18,583 votes and has asked a state court to determine if there were irregularities in voting machines in Tulsa County.

North Dakotans won't find out who represents them in the Senate for at least three weeks. When the counting stopped Republican Milton Young led Democrat William Guy by just 32 votes.

Republican Rep. Louis Wyman led Democrat John Durkin by 355 for New Hampshire's Senate seat. Durkin has asked for a recount. It will take about 2½ weeks.

Democrat Harry Reid has five days to request a recount of his 615 vote defeat by Republican Paul Laxalt for the Nevada Senate seat.

A recount begins Wednesday in the Alaska governor's race. Republican Jay Hammond had a 672 vote edge over Democrat

Gov. William Egan with few absentee ballots and isolated areas uncounted.

Three House races also remained in doubt.

In Nebraska's 3rd District, Mrs. Haven Smith led Democrat Wayne Ziebarth by 1,022 votes with a few absentee ballots still to be counted.

A mere five votes separated Republican W. Henson Moore and Democrat Jeff LaCaze in Louisiana's 6th District. LaCaze is seeking a court ruling on his complaint that a broken voting machine gave results favoring Moore.

A recount is under way in Maine's 1st District where Republican David Emery led incumbent Republican David Emery by 600 votes.

Soak-the-Rich Taxes

LONDON (UPI) — Prime Minister Harold Wilson's Labor government went before Parliament today with a legislative package of soak-the-rich taxes, aid for the needy and economic help for Britain's ailing industry.

Chancellor of the Exchequer Denis Healey was scheduled to appear before Parliament this afternoon to present Britain's third emergency national budget in a year.

Government sources said the new economic program would try to help business by relaxing price controls and easing industrial taxes. The sources said drastic cuts in government spending would make up for the loss in revenues.

They also predicted big new tax hikes on gasoline, liquor, tobacco and all luxury consumer items but higher social security payments for the needy.

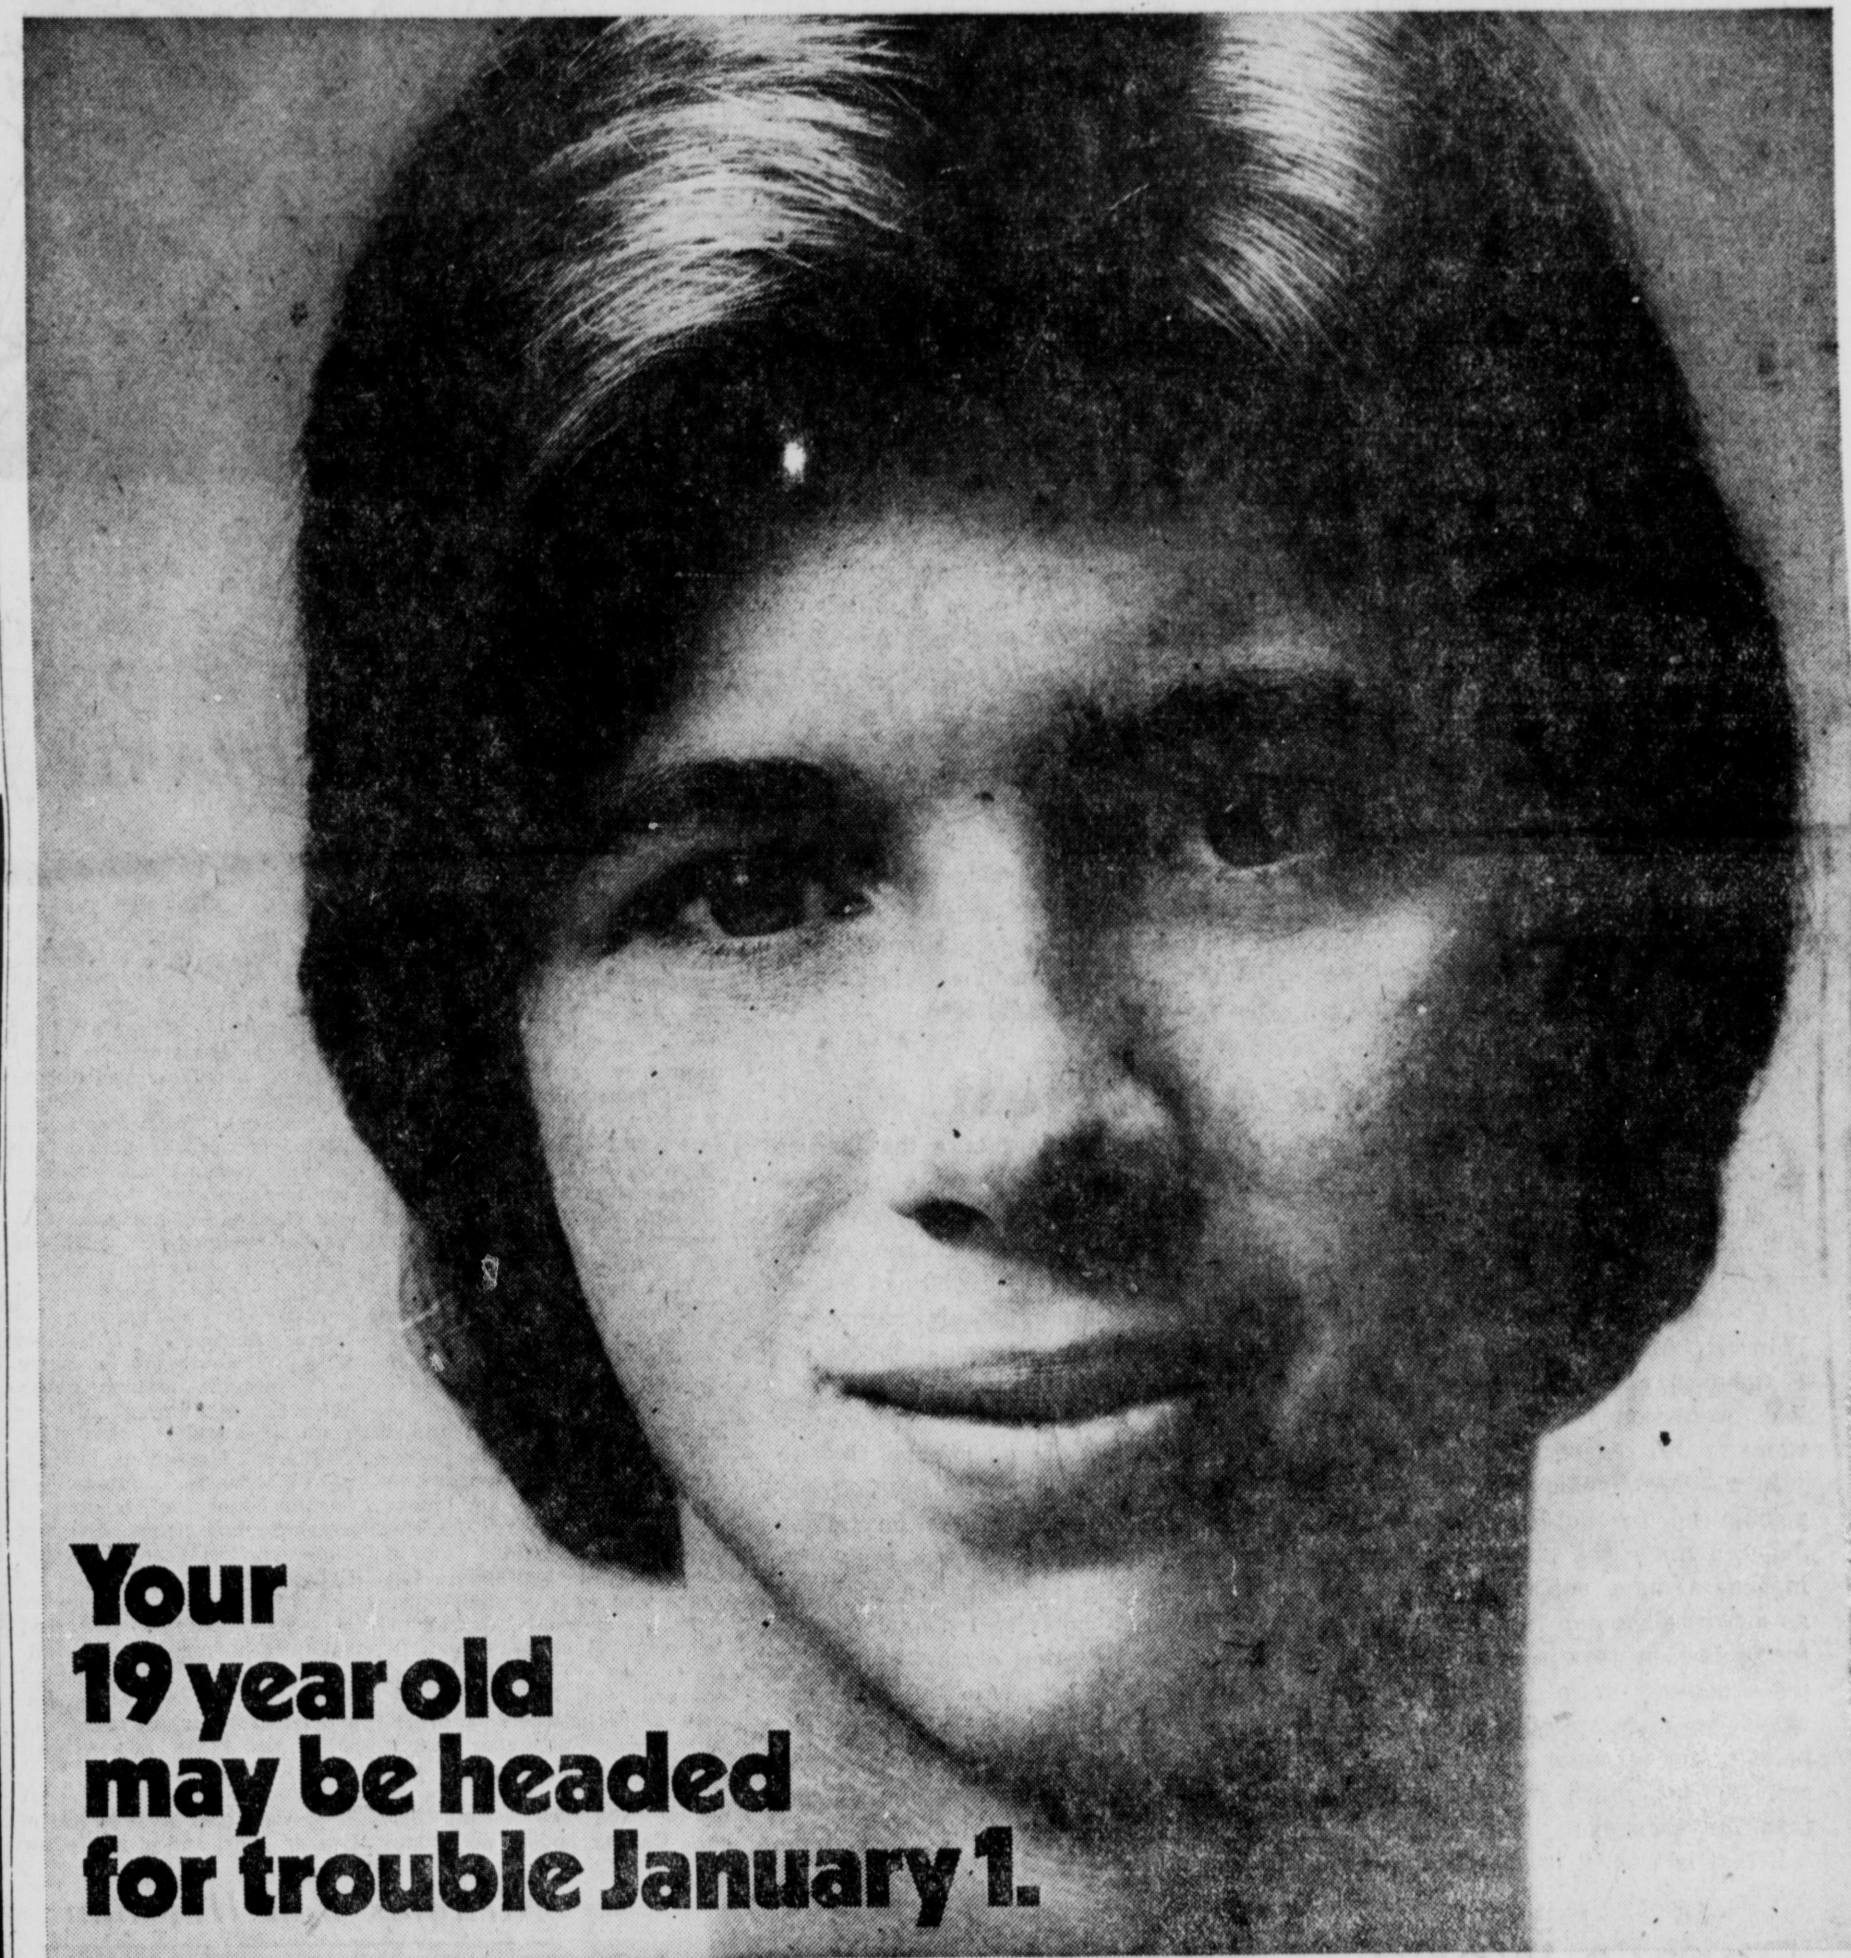

The new Labor economic program was aimed at pulling the country out of what Wilson Heath's top priority is to has called Britain's gravest economic crisis since World War II.

"I believe that our people know that the crisis can be conquered only by the nation, all the nation, as one nation, taking up the challenge in a spirit of total commitment," he said Monday night.

The country has been hit by inflation of up to 25 percent a year, increasing bankruptcies and a threat of up to 1 million jobless this winter.

Government officials said the country out of what Wilson Heath's top priority is to has called Britain's gravest economic crisis since World War II.

Your
19 year old may be headed for trouble January 1.

So act now.

If you have a son or daughter who turned 19 anytime this year, their Blue Cross and Blue Shield protection may run out at midnight on December 31, 1974.

On New Year's Day, in that case, they're on their own. And that could be trouble.

So get them protected with their own contract.

Most young people are healthy.

But it's not something you should take for granted.

Now, some group contracts extend coverage for dependents beyond age 19. Others discontinue coverage on the 19th birthday. It's important that you know when your 19 year old's coverage ends.

If you belong to a group where you work, be sure to talk to the person who handles your Blue Cross and Blue Shield coverage. But if you pay direct — and not through a group — send back the 19 Year Old transfer card we mailed you.

If you haven't received this card, or it got lost, mail us this coupon.

Don't put it off, you might forget.

You don't want your 19 year old to be unprotected on January 1.

Population Still High

The naive assumption by many that declining birth rates have all but eliminated the United States' population problem is not borne out by the latest Census Bureau figures. We say "assumption" rather than "conclusion" because it appears that few who think the problem has vanished have thought the matter through. A look at the new statistics might prove helpful.

However, consoling the rate of increase may seem to be, the absolute increase is substantial. The U.S. population now stands at 8.2 million the total in the 1970 census. That is about equivalent to New York City. So what we have is the number of people in New York City added to the country's total in only a four-year period.

It is true that the U.S. rate of population increase has been on the decline for some years. It is true that this trend makes the problem in this country less pressing than in many other parts of the world.

It is not true, however, that the relatively slow current rise in our population lacks significance. In terms of resources, living space and public institutions the increase in our numbers is of considerable significance. The pressure of demand for goods and services and such amenities of democracy as equal justice will continue to grow—not as rapidly as in many countries, but rapidly enough to present us with difficult challenges.

Hot Line for Runaways

One of the most practical and compassionate responses to human need that has evolved in recent times is the basic idea of having a telephone number people can call to ask for help. One of the most heartening examples of this phenomenon is Operation Peace of Mind, which maintains in Houston a nationwide toll-free line through which runaway children can get in touch with their parents or friends.

The record of this enterprise during the short time since it was started last year following the Houston mass murders is impressive. Some 4,000 runaways have been helped, and communications between children and their parents has been restored to more than 2,000 cases.

— Moved Q. as Ea osyl Wmupbeeneilho
Recently Gov. Dolph Briscoe of Texas urged his colleagues at the Southern Governors Conference to arrange for their states to publicize the number also. It is an excellent idea which we are happy to support. The number, which may be called without charge, is 1-800-231-6946.

Medicine and Sex

Over the past couple of decades significant advances have been made in knowledge about human sexuality and understanding of its role in our lives. It comes as a shock that two of the pioneers in this field, Dr. William H. Masters and Dr. Virginia E. Johnson, are charging that the medical profession is rather behind the times in this regard.

At a Johns Hopkins University symposium on the subject Masters and Johnson made the claim that doctors in general have not yet accepted sex as a natural human function. Even if the profession were to do so, they said, the "negativism of cultural input" would be a restraining factor; they believe that popular attitude toward sex are not much more enlightened than 20 years ago.

If that is true, it is all the more important that doctors take the lead in fostering the view that sex is not something clandestine and perhaps even shameful, but, a natural and wholly acceptable part of the human experience. The profession is hampered, though, not only by popular mores but by inadequate training in this field.

It was not until 1960, the husband-wife team told their audience, that an American medical school first offered a required course on the physiology and psychology of human sexuality. Even now, they said, half a dozen or so medical schools still do not permit formal presentation of the subject of sexual physiology. This and other aspects of the Masters and Johnson lecture constitute a severe indictment to which the medical profession should make a positive response.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — The fragmented Cuban organization in the United States, joining together for the first time in over a decade, have quietly served notice on the State Dept. that they will wage underground warfare, if necessary, to thwart a detente with Fidel Castro.

In their meetings in Washington, they have openly compared themselves to the Palestinian Liberation Organization, which has been carrying on terrorist warfare in the Middle East.

Both moderate and militant groups have advised that they will seek a peaceful solution first, but if that fails, they will engage in "urban guerrilla action" within Cuba.

The exile groups fear the Castro regime will be legitimized by the Organization of American States and U.S.

diplomatic recognition. Thus, the leaders of the largest anti-Castro organization met in Washington on November 1 and formed an umbrella group called the "Cubania Belligerente," or Belligerent Cubans.

Their numbers include a past president of Cuba, Dr. Carlos Prío, plus an ex-president of the Cuban congress, businessmen, educators, and former Cuban military officers.

Following their Washington meetings, the Cuban leaders solemnly signed a declaration of common purpose. They then delivered a copy of the document to Deputy Assistant Secretary of State for International Affairs, Harry Shlaudeman.

Their covenant states that they "cannot co-exist with dictatorship... There can be neither peace nor freedom under the Marxist-Leninist definition of peaceful co-existence."

Then, the document concludes enigmatically that "under certain internal and international conditions a new strategy may be adopted to reach the liberation of Cuba regardless of the consequences." The Cubania Belligerente explained that this means if all else fails, they will become a U.S.-based PLO dedicated to terrorizing Fidel Castro.

They will "campaign against Castro" in league "with elements within Cuba and without CIA help," they advised Washington.

The fact that the anti-Castro organizations have agreed on anything is an extraordinary event in itself. There are an estimated one million Cubans scattered across the United States, and they have formed several dozen exile groups.

Only half a dozen or so, however, are considered by U.S. authorities to be effective.

The usual pattern, one government official has told us, "is for the members of the group to fight, fragment and form new splinter groups."

FOOTNOTE: Several weeks ago, we reported that CIA-trained anti-Castro commandos in Miami have vowed to launch a campaign of terror within the United States if diplomatic recognition is extended to Cuba. Some of these same militants, we have learned, have thrown their support behind Cubania Belligerente. In their Washington meetings, however, the key exile leaders assured officials that they would not turn against the nation "which opened its heart and hands to us."

DEATH TRAPS: Here is the second in the two part report, based on secret Navy documents, on the shocking deterioration of the helicopter carrier fleet.

The Navy's seven helicopter carriers are supposed to deliver Marine assault troops in case they should be needed in an emergency, say, in the Middle East. Although they cost millions and are still comparatively modern, they have been permitted to fall into such disrepair that they no longer are safe.

Secret surveys by the Navy's top inspector, Rear Adm. John Bulkeley, warn that the carriers could become death traps for the Navy crewmen and Marine fighting men who sail in them.

Fire is the terror of the sea, both in war and peace. Yet on board the USS Okinawa, Bulkeley found that "the fire doors between the hangar deck and the vehicle storage area will not close fully."

The pipes carrying highly inflammable fuel are "routed through the ship's incinerator room" and "immediately adjacent to the welder's table." Failure of some conduits "would cause fuel oil to flood the fire room bilges," warns Bulkeley's secret report.

Boiler pipes are "soft patched" or "in an advance state of deterioration."

The most hideous danger in the ship is broken doors and missing rungs in an enclosed escape passageway. Supposedly the enclosure would permit the crew to flee a fire. Actually the broken doors and missing rungs not only would impede their escape but would permit the fire to enflame them and bake them alive as if they were in a long metal oven.

In case of combat, every man aboard would be in danger from the "wretched maintenance." The storage of whole blood for the treatment of casualties, states the report, "is severely limited due to vibrations."

The racks for jettisoning bombs are so poorly designed that there is nothing "to prevent personnel from accidentally sliding overboard."

The communications antennae are "unsatisfactory." The navigation warning lights are "so poorly arranged that a 60 degree 'blind spot' exists on the ship's port side for ships approaching the Okinawa at night."

Finally, if the carrier should start sinking, the sailors and Marines would have no means to save themselves. "All the ship's lifelines, liferafts and lifelines," the report charges, "are considered safety hazards."

What is true of the Okinawa, according to high Navy sources, is also largely true of the other six helicopter carriers.

FOOTNOTE: Adm. I. C. Kidd, the bluff head of Navy Materiel, told us the Okinawa is not the only ship in need of fixing. He pointed to his brutally blunt statements to Congress about the need for swift action throughout the Navy. "When they break," he said, "I fix 'em. But the entire fleet needs maintenance." As to the Okinawa, Kidd said it is undergoing rapid and comprehensive repairs.

Appeal for Christians

By WILLIAM F. BUCKLEY JR.

Do you read the London Times? (Neither do I, but someone sent me a copy.) Unless it happens that you do, you are probably not aware of a recent communication from Dr. Andrei Sakharov, the famous Russian dissident physicist. Dr. Sakharov's latest act of valor has been to protest, along with three colleagues in the Soviet human rights movement, a recent act of oppression by the Soviet Union.

The appeal tells us that a Mr. Vins will be tried in his home city of Kiev under Article 209-1 of the Ukrainian Criminal Code. This Article penalizes the infringement of citizens' rights on the pretext of conducting religious rites. Apparently Soviet authorities have relied more and more on this particular Article, because it provides for a longer prison sentence—ten years plus exile—than other articles commonly applied to believers. It appears that, in fact, Mr. Vins is being charged with "living on the means of believers and, in this way, infringing their material rights." But, the appeal points out, "it is obvious and well known that the Church puts no compulsion on believers to contribute money.

"And second," Sakharov continues, "how can the authorities make such charges when, for their devotion to God, believers are fined thousands of rubles, all their religious literature is confiscated and destroyed during hundreds of house searches... musical instruments are destroyed, prayer houses are razed, parents have their children removed from them, and the road to any education beyond secondary school is barred to young believers?"

Now there are several extraordinary things here. Not the persecution of yet another Christian—that is a staple of Communist oppression in the Soviet Union. It is remarkable that Dr. Sakharov, himself an atheist, should honor the freedom of religious conscience even of those who disagree with him. Extraordinary, and noble.

Another remarkable feature of this story is that Sakharov's appeal was addressed to the World Council of Churches two weeks ago, and at this writing, has not so far as I am aware been acknowledged.

What is unremarkable about it is that the persecution of Georgy Vins, and of his fellow Christians, causes not a ripple in the Christian world. If I were a Christian living in the Soviet Union, I would address my appeals not to Christian authorities outside the Iron Curtain, but to Jewish groups. It is they and only they who have the conscience left to protest. The Palestinian Liberation Organization has probably tortured and murdered a few hundred people in the past 20 years. In protest against their spokesman being invited to the United Nations, organized Jewish groups mounted the most impressive meeting in recent New York history.

Only a few weeks ago, Senator Jackson's protest against Soviet restrictions on Jewish emigration finally cracked the impasse; and for the first time we can remember, we faced down the Soviet Union, which has promised to swell the quota hugely. I really do not think it has occurred to Senator Jackson to introduce complementary legislation denying favorable economic treatment to the Soviet Union unless it grants religious liberty to Georgy Vins.

He, of course, is only a symbol, as Sakharov's protest shows, citing the systematic and continued persecutions. In 1974 there have been (so far) a dozen trials of Russian Baptists. Indeed, a second appeal of Sakharov concerns the imminent trial of six Lithuanian Catholics. It too is addressed by Dr. Sakharov to the World Council of Churches but also to the 1974 Synod of the Roman Catholic Church, which until recently was meeting in Rome. Both bodies were asked "to speak out in defense of the people who have been arrested for their religious beliefs." Maybe one of these bodies has done so, but not in my presence. Or, yours, I warrant. The World Council of Churches has been too busy denouncing Rhodesia, to worry about the Soviet Union. The Catholics are trying to put some order back into their house, and if there is great concern among the Bishops for the persecution of Christians in Russia and China, they must have given up that concern for Lent—about ten years ago, which is the last time I heard, from a pulpit, a denunciation of Communist persecution of the Christians.

I do not expect to hear any such denunciations from Senator Jackson's pulpit. So that I say this quite sincerely: This is an appeal to American Jews to put pressure on American Christians to help Russian Christians.

Nicholas Von Hoffman:

Belligerently Not Voting

WASHINGTON — The chopped chicken liver and the cauliflower tips set around the dish with the dip in it were spread out on the living room coffee table. There were two television sets for us guests to watch the returns on.

As the numbers began appearing on the screen, several of us confessed we hadn't voted, but our admission was almost proud. It was without the guilt which would have accompanied such a statement a few years ago. We couldn't be shamed by President Ford's pre-election day pleading for us to vote: "Everyone who can get to the polls and fails to go, who refuses to exercise the precious right of a free citizen to vote his or her honest conviction, is actually voting 'No' on our system of self-government."

On the contrary, we had exercised our precious right not to vote—to express our honest conviction that this was another, meaningless, one-party election. There must be a lot of us because the voter-participation rate keeps on sagging, even though they've been adding enormously to the number of eligible voters throughout the century. First women, then Southern blacks and now mostly teenagers, but evidently they're not that keen on voting either.

Maybe what the Repocrats or the Demopublicans should do is lower the voting age to take in grammar school kids. The politicians could use truant officers to make the kiddies vote. Failing that, making vote-buying legal might be another possibility. Paying the citizenry to vote is one way the politicians might be induced to share the booty with the electorate.

In the course of consuming our booze and cauliflower tips, the only winner who seemed to evoke enthusiasm was the Independent elected governor in Maine. Nobody knew the first thing about him, but the fact he wasn't a Democrat or a Republican was enough.

By 10 o'clock the screen was mostly being ignored. Once one of those serious-faced, white-haired commentators appeared on it to explain the self-evident, and somebody said, "He's been saying the same thing about every election since 1944." There were a few soft groans when they began interviewing the 1976 Presidential possibilities. McGovern was received in silence, and after that it was decided the interviews would be less painful with the volume turned off. It worked out that Senators Mondale, Jackson and Bentzen are easier to get down if you can look at them without listening to them.

Some people in the room wouldn't buy our minority, renegade attitude. They advanced the lesser-of-two-evils argument, but could think of nothing to say when we asked who do you vote for in the case of two equal evils.

The idea of principled abstention is catching on, even against the media barrage which makes a sluggard of anyone who refuses to vote. As more of us think that way, the politicians grow more anxious. Notice how the residence requirements for voting are disappearing; and while they won't come around to pick up your garbage or arrest the neighborhood mugger, they'll rush over to your house and register you while you're eating supper.

After all the ballot counting in this election is done, President Ford's feat that a new Congress will have been chosen by only 21 per cent of the eligible voters may be realized. That will be the case, if the total vote last Tuesday was no more than 40 per cent of the eligible, and it is low turnout like that which not only robs the polls of any claim to a mandate but undermines their legitimacy.

All of which is healthy. The country needs a merger of the Democrats and the Republicans into one organization and the creation of a new second party to oppose them. We've had no party representing the Jeffersonian idea of small, decentralized government since 1932, when the Democrats had a plant in their platform that read: "We advocate an immediate and drastic reduction of governmental expenditures by abolishing useless commissions and offices, consolidating departments and bureaus and eliminating extravagance, to accomplish savings of not less than 25 per cent of the cost of the Federal Government."

The obvious ironies aside, this is the platform Franklin Roosevelt campaigned on that "Government, like any family, can for a year spend a little more than it earns, but you and I know that a continuation of that means the pauperhouse."

When he got into office, however, he adopted Hoover's policy of big, centralized and expensive government, and in the process turned America into a single-party political system. Forty-two years later, one of the ways we can begin to restore that two-party system is to assume a stance of belligerent apathy and refuse to vote.

Full Agenda for Lawmakers

KINGSTON — More than 26 pieces of legislation, including one which would reapportion Ulster County, will be up for consideration at the Legislature's Thursday meetings at 4 and 8 p.m. in the County Office Building.

Among other proposals up for consideration are:

- A merger of the Ulster County Drug Commission and the Mental Health Board.
- Setting a date for a public hearing on the proposed Ulster County budget for 1975.
- Authorizing issuance of $985,000 in serial bonds and $52,625 in capital notes to pay for the construction of a new Mental Health Center.
- Acceptance of a land grant from Benedictine Hospital for erection of a Mental Health Building.
- Adopting an agricultural district in the Town of Gardiner as agricultural district 13.
- Authorizing the legislative chairman, Peter J. Savago (R-Dist. 8), to submit a detailed plan and program of a proposed youth bureau to the New York State Division for Youth for approval.
- Revising the Ulster County Community College budget, taking into consideration increased enrollment which provides additional revenue from tuition and state aid but does not affect the county's monetary contribution. Under the change, $137,339 is added to the budget for a total of $3,716,659.
- Authorizing the college to continue as a member of the Associated Colleges of the Mid-Hudson Area.
- Amending the 1974 Drug Abuse Control Contract to include $9,670 in additional appropriations and revenues from the state with $1,406 going to the New Paltz Central School District; $51 to Saugerties Central School District; $2,611 to Ontario Central School District; $1,353 to Wallkill Central School District and $4,249 to Highland Central School District.

Central Businessmen Slate Broadway Survey

KINGSTON — The Central Businessmen's Association decided Monday night to conduct a survey of its more than 100 members on specific suggestions to improve the business climate of the central Broadway section of the city.

Results of the survey, when compiled, will be used to make requests for cooperation from the Common Council in implementing them.

Some items mentioned by Joseph Brophy, who suggested the survey, were reconstruction of streets; improved traffic control; building code enforcement; improved street lighting on several streets; more frequent police patrols; more parking; possibly some type of low interest loans to businesses for refurbishing buildings; and, perhaps the central issue for several years, attracting a large supermarket to the area.

Association President Sy Blas noted that about half the population of the City of Kingston lived in the area described as "central" by the organization, and he claimed there were "no major food stores" within walking distance of this segment of the population.

The Association considers the area central that is bounded by St. James Street, Flatbush Road, East Chester Street, Wall Street and Mary's Avenue.

It was decided by majority opinion at the meeting at the Midtown Steak House that every effort will be made to work with city officials, especially in the planning department, in a concerted effort to bring about some change in the central Broadway area through cooperation rather than through verbal harangues.

A meeting Oct. 10 with city officials resulted in no firm ideas either from the businessmen or the city planner for improvements to the district regarded as marginal and deteriorating in some respects, said Blas, with a question from the committee: "What is wrong with Broadway?"

Brophy said that he thought the Association should "soft peddle" with the city administration in its self-improvement efforts, doing its best to accomplish its aims through committee work.

And this survey of businessmen in the district was judged as a good method of finding out exactly what the priorities might be and what aims would receive the greatest amount of support from the businessmen.

The members looked to North Front Street as an example of what can be accomplished in turning a deteriorating neighborhood around, stating that its entire outlook had been turned around with input by building owners in fixing up their properties and by government through its funding programs.

The Central Businessmen's Association decided also to have a large dinner-meeting in February at some midtown spot with the Association picking up most of the tab. The annual meeting will be held partially for election of officers and primarily to encourage greater participation from midtown business people in improving the neighborhood.

Doctors Give Up on Coed

Nobody's God, Parents Say

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI) — Dark-haired Ronda Seaman lies quietly in her sparsely furnished hospital room. Her lips move, but she says nothing. Occasionally she coughs.

The 21-year-old former college coed has been in a coma for 16 months — ever since her skull was smashed in an automobile accident on the Long Island Expressway in New York in June, 1973. Her doctors have given up hope.

"With this kind of injury, with a smashed-in skull and brain, if they don't wake up after a few months, that's it," said Dr. Irwin Perlmutter, who treated Ronda for three months. "I know of no exceptions."

But Ronda's parents are in vehement disagreement.

"Doctors are not God," says Irwin Seaman, her father. "We've heard of too many cases where children have waked up, that's all. Nobody's God."

Ronda was transferred from New York to Doctor's Hospital in September, 1973, and the hospital now has filed suit to evict her. The Seamans have hired attorneys to fight the eviction and the battle lines are drawn.

The Seamans have run out of health insurance and owe the hospital $65,000, but hospital administrator Joseph McAloon says the issue is not the money.

"We're not suing for the money, because this hospital is intended for the care of acutely ill patients," McAloon said.

The issue, McAloon said, is that "she has reached the maximum improvement and there's nothing else the hospital can do to make her better."

Irwin Seaman said he feels his daughter's chances of recovery would be jeopardized if he followed the hospital's wishes and placed Ronda in a nursing home.

No date has yet been set for the trial, but if the case gets to court a flood of sticky questions could be raised by attorneys for both sides.

Among them are the broad area of medical ethics. Who determines how much care a patient should get? Should community funds be used to support a "hopeless case?"

OAS Still Split On Cuban Issue

QUITO, Ecuador (UPI) — A meeting of Western Hemisphere foreign ministers drew to a close today with diplomats still deeply divided over ending the 10-year-old isolation of Cuba. Diplomats favoring rapprochement with Cuba made a final try this morning to get the Organization of American States to approve a watered-down resolution before closing the five-day conference.

The foreign ministers pushing for an end to the Cuban sanctions said they would try to get the talks recessed indefinitely if they fail to push through a resolution before the talks end this afternoon.

The conference began last Thursday with the foreign ministers expected to approve a resolution by Costa Rica, Colombia and Venezuela to end the political and economic embargo imposed in July 1964.

Only 12 nations, however, supported the resolution. The proposal needed 14 votes to pass, two-thirds of the 21 OAS nations that voted for the sanctions 10 years ago.

A compromise proposal to let nations decide voluntarily whether to resume economic and diplomatic ties with Cuba also fell short Monday when the United States announced it would abstain from voting. Five other nations — Brazil, Guatemala, Nicaragua, Haiti and Bolivia — also said they would not vote.

Three countries — Chile, Paraguay and Uruguay — have opposed ending the embargo from the beginning, accusing Cuba's Communist rulers of interfering in their internal affairs.

Wild Israeli Melee Erupts Between Union Officials

TEL AVIV (UPI) — An argument over Israel's tough new austerity plan broke out in a wild melee at a union hall today and residents of an explosive Tel Aviv slum vowed to continue street protests against the plan.

Rival labor union leaders arguing over the government measures traded punches on the same rostrum where only moments earlier Prime Minister Yitzhak Rabin pleaded for their support. The eight-minute melee at a central committee meeting of the nation's trade union federation, the Histadrut, came as Rabin sent riot police into the troubled Haikvah slum. At least 60 persons were arrested Monday night.

Rabin, chain-smoking cigarettes as he watched the brawling union delegates, only minutes earlier had warned the union that tougher belt-tightening measures would come in an attempt to help the country's war-torn economy.

Rabin and Finance Minister Yehoshua Rabinowitz warned that without the austerity measures mass unemployment would reach 100,000 and the standard of living would decline 3 or 4 per cent.

The fighting broke out over demands that the government in Israel's largest city.

Police said 60 persons, most of them teen-agers, were arrested in the second consecutive day of rioting in the Haikvah quarter in southern Tel Aviv.

The demonstrators also flowed out of the poor district to smash store windows and set market crates on fire along Allenby Road in Tel Aviv's main business district.

Witnesses said helmeted patrolmen charged into demonstrators with swinging riot clubs to break up the protests in Israel's largest city.

The Bank's 1975 Christmas Club . . . and a boost for the United Way

This year we will donate what we might have spent on gifts for opening Christmas Club accounts to the United Way.* Although each gift by itself would be just a token, put them all together for our thousands of Christmas Club savers and they represent a sizeable sum.

We hope you'll be pleased by this timely plan. Like all of us, the United Way agencies are hit by inflation; this extra gift will help them continue their vital community services.

Now, you can help make someone's holiday just a little bit better . . . while you provide for your own Merry Christmas next year by joining Kingston Trust's 1975 Christmas Club.

5% interest paid on completed clubs.

Automatic deposit plan available to our checking account and VIP customers.

Payroll groups welcome.

* United Way of Ulster County, Inc. Except: For clubs opened at Arlington office, donation goes to United Way of Dutchess County; at Kerhonkson office, to Kerhonkson-Accord First Aid Squad; at Marlboro office to Marlboro Volunteer Ambulance Corps. Donations 50 cents for each club opened.

LIFE/TODAY

Noted Weaver to Be Honored Thursday

Iona Plath of Woodstock is listed in the ninth edition of "Who's Who of American Women 1975-76. A well known weaver, she will be honored at a meeting of the Woodstock Weavers on Thursday, Nov. 14 at 1:30 p.m. The program will be held in the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen, Tinker Street. Ms. Plath, widow of the late Jay Alan, maintains a weaving studio in her Mountain View Avenue home and also instructs several classes. Her award-winning Rya rug was exhibited in the annual show given by the Woodstock Guild of Craftsmen.

An author, she has written Handweaving, The Craft of Handweaving and The Decorative Arts of Sweden.

Ms. Plath has studied art at Westmoreland College, Chicago Art Institute and the New York Art Students League. To specialize in weaving, she studied at Nordiska in Stockholm, Sweden. She has had more than 20 years experience as a designer for national textile firms also.

The Woodstock resident has taught at the School of Art and Design, Corpus Christie, Texas, at the Woodstock Guild and the Talented Art Program.

About her craft she says: "Everyone has a need to express themselves and has a surprising gift for it. For some, this gift is best expressed in weaving yarns of various textures and colors."

Oktoberfest Comes to Bear Mountain Inn Once Again

Bear Mountain Inn announced today that an Oktoberfest will be held on November 14-15-16, from 7 p.m. till midnight.

Authentic German food and entertainment will be featured during the above nights in the cafeteria.

Adding gaiety to the event will be the Werner Heckmann Orchestra, a well-known oompah band from Woodside. Other entertainment will be a Schnitzelbank (sing along), Authentic Bavarian Folk Dancing by Germania Almrausch Schuhplattler's from Poughkeepsie and Fishkill, and the Strolling Accordionist.

No Bavarian festival would be complete without traditional German food and specially brewed Oktoberfest Beer imported from Munich in large kegs. German dishes available will be: Fresh Roasted Half Chicken — Bratwurst and Onions — Knockwurst and Sauerkraut — Sauerbraten Sandwich, and Hot German Potato Salad. Special Desserts will also be featured on the menu. The special Oktoberfest menu will be self-service or brought by one of our "Festlich Frauleins."

For those who do not wish to attend the Oktoberfest, dinner will be served as usual in the main dining room.

A German Bake Shop will be on the premises with homemade German cakes, bread, strudel, pastry and pretzels for those who wish to purchase something to take home.

Distaff Digest

Good Variety of Beef, Pork Specials Promised This Week

Retail stores will have a good variety of beef and pork specials this week, according to the Consumer and Market Information Service of the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Among the beef forerunners will be plate beef as low as 55 cents, ground beef from 78 cents to 99 cents, ground chuck from 89 cents to 95 cents, beef liver from 79 cents to 89 cents, and frankfurters from 89 cents to $1.29. Steaks on feature will be sirloin steak from $1.39 to $1.85, porterhouse from $1.49 to $1.79, cubed steak round from $1.69 to $1.89, rib steak from $1.29 to $1.49, beef round for Swissing from $1.49 to $1.79, top round beef steak from $1.45 to $1.89 and chuck steak from 79 cents to $1.15, depending on cut and trim. Some enticing roast items worth shopping for are standing rib roast from $1.35 to $1.40, sirloin tip roast from $1.59 to $1.75, beef rump roast from $1.59 to $1.69, and chuck roast, depending on cut and trim, from 79 cents to 99 cents.

Pork specials will highlight items such as pork shoulder butt steak from 85 cents to 89 cents, spareribs from 89 cents to $1.09, fresh pork shoulder picnic from 49 cents to 59 cents, and smoked ham shank end from 75 cents to 85 cents. Other economical buys to look for are pork loin rib end from 69 cents to 95 cents, pork loin- loin end from 79 cents to 99 cents, center cut pork chops from $1.09 to $1.39, pork loin rib end in the vicinity of 99 cents, and sausage, depending on type, from 65 cents to $1.39.

Here and there, a few poultry items — broilers and fryers at 45 cents, cut-up 49 cents, fowl at 39 cents, large turkeys at 49 cents, turkey breast at 79 cents, ducks at 65 cents, and roasting chickens at 60 cents — should make the scene as economical purchases. Although lamb will be featured in one area, specials on this meat, as well as veal, will be few and far between.

Engaged?

CONGRATULATIONS!

Yours! This Lovely Wedding Bowl

is our engagement gift to you with our very best wishes for a life of health, happiness and prosperity. Legend has it that the original wedding bowl was placed before the bride and groom and the wedding guests filed past while filling it with money. We, of course have lost track of this colorful custom but the wedding bowl persists as a unique entity... only now.

It is given as a centerpiece and treasured as a memento. Our true replica of a Colonial antique is yours without any obligation. Just come in and get yours! It's gift-wrapped and ready. We are in the romantic business of making homes and it is our continuing pleasure to place at least one piece of our home furnishings in every new home. We would be delighted to give you yours!

Present this Ad any time prior to wedding date. Receive with our compliments... booklets on the care of your furniture... a 20 page booklet, "Helpful Hints for Your Wedding"... and a sample of Guardsman furniture polish.

Dear Abby
By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1974 by Chicago Tribune
N.Y. News Synd. Inc.

Dear Abby: I am constantly amazed at some of the "problems" you are asked to solve. Many could be solved if the person had one ounce of common sense and a half an ounce of guts.

All He Wants Is Sex ...And Chinese Food

DEAR ABBY: Sandy and I have been married for two years; he was divorced and so was I. (No dependent children.) All Sandy cares about is Chinese food and sex. My biggest problem is that Sandy is a loner. He is not interested in being with other people. Since our marriage I have been out of touch with all my friends, many of whom are interesting, worthwhile people. Sandy doesn't have any friends and doesn't want any. He's not stupid. He's a college professor. When he's not eating Chinese food or making love, he has his nose in a book. If I complain about our being alone all the time he tells me I am free to see my friends any time I want — but without him. I really love him, Abby, but I don't know how much longer I can go on like this. Can you help me?

SANDY'S WIFE
DEAR WIFE: I don't know how long a marriage can exist exclusively on a diet of love and Chinese food, but I think you're about to find out. Sandy is selfish and stubborn in his refusal to compromise. And only you can decide if your life without Sandy would be better than your life with him.

DEAR ABBY: I am married to a very good man. My first marriage was a disaster. Mark never came straight home. He'd stop somewhere for a "drink" and come home anywhere from one to five hours late. I couldn't take it, so after three years, I divorced him. My present husband, Neil, has now started to come home anywhere from 20 minutes to an hour late. Now he's stopping for a drink. Neil isn't much of a drinker now, but I have nightmares about his getting as bad as Mark. Tonight when he came home half an hour late, I put my foot down. He told me he wasn't a child, and he didn't think I had a right to clock him to the minute, and he wasn't going to put up with it.

Abby, I do not nag him about anything else but this. I want our marriage to last. It's not that I'm against one drink. I take one, too, occasionally, but this is my sore spot. Do you blame me?

SAUSALITO
DEAR SAUS: Yes, and no. Neil shouldn't have even one drink on his way home, because should he become involved in an accident (even if it's not his fault), if he's had one drink, he could be in a lot of trouble. Because

RETIRE
DEAR RETIRED: You don't need an "excuse" — you have a legitimate reason. Use it. Simply say: "I quit being a beautician because I don't care for that kind of work." And if you haven't got courage to stand up and speak your mind because you don't want "trouble" — you're already in a lot of trouble!

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dar Mrs. Post: It seems to me that more and more often when I go to a department store, the salesgirls are talking to each other about their dates or other personal problems while the customers wait forever for service. Is there some tactful way to speed them up or make them pay a little more attention to their...? Salesgirls in department stores and all others who wait on people have an obligation, and that obligation is to give good service to the customer — not to keep him waiting while they satisfy their own urge to chatter.

Eloise
Dear Eloise: You have every right to say, "If you don't mind, I'm in a hurry — would you wait on me please?" If this has no effect, you will be doing the management a favor if you report the girl's attitude to whoever is in charge.

Dar Mrs. Post: Next year my husband and I will celebrate our silver wedding anniversary. I have begun to consider having an open house. But I do not really need all the silver gifts one receives for a 25th anniversary even though I'm sure the gifts would be lovely.

Would it be permissible and in good taste to have a money tree instead?

Mrs. J. Simpson

Dear Mrs. Simpson: I understand your feelings about silver gifts, but you cannot ask people to give you money. In some cases, it is permissible for a hostess giving a party for someone else to suggest a contribution to a money tree instead of a gift. But it would be in very poor taste for you yourself to invite friends to a party and suggest that you would like them, in effect, to pay for it. (For information about anniversary parties, send self-addressed, stamped envelope to me, in care of this newspaper, and ask for my free pamphlet, "Anniversary Parties.")

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen and its answer will be published in this column. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post, in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Financial and Commercial

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market, which has shown muscle recently in the face of adverse news, opened mixed Tuesday in moderate trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

The Dow Jones industrial average, which gained more than five points Monday, was off 0.08 to 672.56 shortly after the opening. Advances led declines, 169 to 145, among the 493 issues crossing the tape. Turnover amounted to around 520,000 shares.

Monday's gain in slow trading led many analysts to wonder what would have happened if it had not been the second Veterans' Day holiday this fall.

Investors appeared to discount the nationwide coal strike which began at midnight, mostly on the hopes it will be a short one. There is growing concern, however, the walkout will be lengthy and will further cripple an already sagging economy.

Levitt Demands State Financial Revamping

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, a Democrat who complained loudly and regularly during the soon to be ended 16 years of Republican control of state government, has renewed his call for a revamping of state finance and debt policies.

However, it remains to be seen if Democratic Governor-elect Hugh L. Carey will make any more effective response to his recommendations than did Governors Nelson A. Rockefeller and Malcolm Wilson.

The targets of a report issued by Levitt's office today are the 13-month fiscal year the state's chief executives have often used to make the state budget figures say when they wanted them to say, and so-called backdoor financing which Levitt says has been used to circumvent the voter's constitutional right to decide major state indebtedness.

On the debt policy issue, Levitt claims the use of indirect debt incurred by public authorities, lease-back, agreements entered into by the state, as well as direct borrowing by the state mean that "the State of New York is mortgaging its future to a point which approaches the capacity of public burden."

Levitt estimates the direct state debt tripled in the last decade, standing at $3.4 billion at March 31, 1974, and will cost the state $5.1 billion when finally paid off.

He said indirect debt in the form of rental charges and lease-back arrangements totaled $2.9 billion with rental and reserve payments currently at more than $200 million a year. Public authorities have incurred a "moral commitment" for the state adding up to $4.8 billion.

His report included suggestions "to restore the controls and the direct approach intended by the constitution" regarding the incurrence of future debt, including specific dollar limitations on existing and future debt propositions.

Levitt criticized the continued use of a cash method of accounting used by the state in reporting its financial obligations and revenues.

The cash method permits distortions in reports on how the government is doing through the use of so-called rollovers, reverse rollovers and accelerations.

During some fiscal years, total expenditures have been increased by making 13 rather than 12 monthly payments in state aid programs or expenditures and revenues have been reduced by deferring scheduled payments or delaying the reporting of collections.

SCHOOLHOUSE IN TEXAS DESERT

City Teacher and Desert Schoolhouse

By WALTER A. FRERCK

STUDY BUTTE, Tex. (UPI)

Schoolteacher Trenton Jones first saw the desolate, rocky desert of the Big Bend country five years ago, and it was love at first sight.

All he had to do was figure out how to earn a living amid the wilderness that Indian lore said was made from the leftovers of the Earth's creation.

Today, from a one-room schoolhouse in the foothills of the Christmas Mountains, Jones teaches 14 children who make the trek each day to the tar-shingled, tin-roofed public school.

"I wanted to get away from the big city," Jones said as he watched students raise the state and American flags before school. "People thought we were crazy and wouldn't last a month. But after a year, it's better than ever."

Fewer than 100 persons live within the area served by the school. The 26-year-old Corpus Christi, Tex., native and former San Antonio school teacher said the isolation of the small community has influenced his approach to teaching. "With no television to watch and radio only at night the kids aren't distracted and they read like crazy," he said. "When I finish a day with these kids I really feel I have accomplished something. There just isn't the pressure of the big classroom. I have time to work with each kid."

When I was in San Antonio the classes were all too big. I think it is one of the downsides of our school system. You just can't reach all of them — there are so many kids."

Study Butte was a quicksilver mining town until the demand for mercury fell during the 1950s.

Now only a few ranches operate in the area, along with several gasoline stations and motels which serve tourists visiting Big Bend National Park. Jones and his wife, Olga, know everyone for miles around.

Whenever it rains Jones pumps water into a storage tank from an arroyo he has dammed up. "If it goes too long between rains we have water trucked in, but that hasn't happened very often."

"You learn to be a jack-of-all-trades out here because there is no one around to come fix things," he said.

When Olga is not working in her garden or helping out afternoons in the school the couple and their 14-month-old daughter, Anna Maria, go into the nearby canyon country to swim in the cool pools of water. They like the simple life.

"People who come out here run up and down the roads — they can't stay still," he said. "Some are afraid of the isolation. I guess. They are always wondering what we do for entertainment."

"We drive to Alpine, 108 miles away, for groceries once a month and if we really want to do it big and have a night on the town we drive to El Paso. People who live in town get bored, but for us it's a big deal."

"In fact, were planning to drive to Alpine this weekend, get a motel room and watch television."

Jack Reynolds Set as Speaker

KINGSTON

The latest method of updating the countywide real property tax inventory will be outlined by Jack Reynolds, director of the Ulster County Real Property Tax Service Agency Tuesday, Nov. 19 at 7:45 a.m. at the breakfast meeting of the Chamber of Commerce of Ulster County.

The meeting will be held at the Gov. Clinton Hotel, according to executive director of the Chamber, Len Cane, who said that reservations are necessary and may be made with his office no later than Monday morning, Nov. 18.

Reynolds will explain the tax mapping and reassessment of county properties which is expected to be completed in the near future. A question and answer period will follow.

Catskill Economic Profile

...An In Depth Study

STAMFORD

A consultant's study report to the Temporary State Commission to Study the Catskills has described the Catskills as a "region of great economic diversity with manufacturing, services, wholesale-retail trade and government as its four main industries."

That report, according to commission members, modifies somewhat the general impression that the Catskill region is only a haven for people seeking to escape the environment of metropolitan New York.

According to the report, entitled "Catskill Region Economic Profile," manufacturing remains the region's leading employer, despite a recent decline in its share of total employment.

Service-related businesses, the report continued, employed some 21,500 persons in 1972, placing it in second place among the region's four largest industries.

In depth studies of such economic sectors as agriculture, transportation, resorts, forestry, wildlife and fisheries were also conducted by the commission and will be the topics of future releases.

Two other reports, "General Soil Map and Interpretations" and "Catskill Region Land Use and Natural Resources" were also released by the Study Commission this week.

The general soil map and interpretation report consists of one volume, plus meso map, for each county within the Catskill region.

The Land Use and Natural Resources (LUNR) inventory system was prepared by the Department of Natural Resources at Cornell University, and utilizes aerial photographs as the basis for its interpretations. Data on current land use inventory items, such as the number and type of commercial, residential and industrial structures, as well as ponds, lakes, recreation facilities, quarries, farms and educational institutions, are included.

Another segment of the report provides current data on such items as orchards, croplands, brush land, forest land, transportation facilities, village or hamlet areas and central business districts.

All of the information released is available for public inspection at the Study Commission's office at Rexmere Park in Stamford. Once fees and distribution procedures are established, all the released reports will be made available to the public upon written request.

Ellenville NAACP Lists Speaker

annual banquet of the Ellenville chapter of the NAACP, to be held at the Fallsview Hotel in Ellenville Sunday, Nov. 17, beginning at 6 p.m.

Dr. Butler, a graduate of Oberlin College, received a masters degree in psychology from Ohio State University, and her Ph.D from the University of Pittsburgh. She has been a faculty member at New Paltz since 1965.

In her talk the Ellenville NAACP, she will describe the current program of the college's Black Studies Department, discuss its implications for the school's students, and the significance of such studies for society as a whole.

Lecture Speaker

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH

Dr. Hugo Munsterberg, students chairman of the art history department at the State University College at New Paltz, has been invited to give a series of lectures at the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

Munsterberg will talk to the students in the School of Architecture on Japanese Decorative Architecture, on Zen and Oriental art to the students in Asia studies and Japanese culture.

Dr. Munsterberg has also learned that Columbia University Press has published a book entitled: An Introduction to Japanese Civilization which was edited by Professor Tiedeman of the City University of New York that includes an essay on Japanese art by Dr. Munsterberg alongside others which deal with the various aspects of Japanese history and culture.

Homemade Smokehouse Helps Family Budget

KRIPPLEBUSH find their way to freezers and cleaned and quartered in a few days. In the spirit of old-fashioned thrift and neighborliness, the people who live in the hills around Kripplebush are fighting inflation and high food prices these days with a helpful hand from Ed Kelly and his home-made smokehouse.

And if you've priced a pound of bacon lately, you know just how significant the savings can be. Kelly's smokehouse isn't any bigger than a closet, but it took almost a year to build. It's a delicate and finely-crafted monument to one's skill, patience and dexterity.

But it is also a testament to the increasing fear and frustration that Americans are experiencing while the cost of food soars out of sight. And it signals a growing belief that at least some of the problems of the '70s can be met head-on with turn-of-the-century solutions.

Kelly's smokehouse operation is strictly small-time—from the solitary hog that he fattens in the rocky pasture of his rustic Cherry Hill Ranch, to the do-it-yourself slaughtering operation, to the hefty slabs of smoked pork and bacon that eventually find their way to freezers and cleaned and quartered in a few days. In the spirit of old-fashioned thrift and neighborliness, the people who live in the hills around Kripplebush are fighting inflation and high food prices these days with a helpful hand from Ed Kelly and his home-made smokehouse.

It is that simplicity, however, that trims important dollars off the family's food budget. "It would just be too expensive if we did this on a large scale," Kelly explained. "The cost of feed alone would make it almost impossible."

The meat is hung in a brick-lined room about twice the size of an ordinary oven. Kelly uses

Nothing Gets Thrown Out Here

It doesn't cost that much — oak and cedar chips to create hardly anything at all, in fact the necessary smoke; and can — to fatten a single hog. "We create either a 'hot fire' or use mostly table scraps," said Kelly. "Nothing gets thrown out here." After dining royally for a few months, the plump 400-pound porker is ready for the knife.

It's during the slaughtering process that the neighbors lend a hand, out of both generosity and necessity. The hog is killed, at the Kelly ranch. "We all help each other out," he commented recently. "The neighbors give me a hand when I'm slaughtering, and I help them out in the same way." Not only does the arrangement help cut the cost of living, it revives an American tradition of neighbor-helping-neighbor that doesn't seem to be much in vogue these days.

The smokehouse, however, is just one of Kelly's many talents. He raises horses, championship jumpers that have won a roomful of ribbons and trophies under the expert guidance of his 16-year-old daughter, Maureen; drives a bus for the Rondout Valley Central School District; and oversees a managerie of goats, ducks, turkeys, sheep and calves that comprise a traveling zoo he herds to shopping centers in Westchester County every Christmas.

But in all these years, he's never lost any of the members of his flock. You see, Kelly also raises Doberman's, and they guard the pasture and barns of Cherry Hill Ranch — as well as the tasty slabs of bacon that hang in the smokehouse — with quiet and loyal authority.

Osborn Still Has It

LOOSE BALL—Cards' Tom Brahaney (51), Conrad Dobler, and Vikings Alan Page scramble for a Jim Hart fumble in fourth quarter of Monday night's game. Dobler finally came up with the pigskin, Vikings won, 28-24. (UPI)

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — Veteran Minnesota running back Dave Osborn says rumors of his decline have been greatly exaggerated.

Osborn rushed for 96 yards in 23 carries, including a one-yard touchdown, and set up two other TDs Monday night in the Vikings' 28-24 nationally televised win over the mistake-prone St. Louis Cardinals.

"Rumors have surfaced on and off the last few years that I'm through but I feel I could keep going for quite a few more years," Osborn said.

"I realize there aren't that many 10-year running backs around. I'm thankful for the opportunity to play."

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (UPI) — Statistics of the Minnesota-St. Louis football game.

Stat	Min.	St. L.
First downs	18	20
Rushes-yards	36-179	35-135
Passing yards	137	107
Return yards	26	36
Punts	14-40	24-51
Punt avg.	28.6	21.3
Fumbles-lost	0-0	2-2
Penalties-yards	3-20	5-50
Time of possession	31:16	28:44

Minnesota's 100th game was a 28-24 victory over the Cardinals. The Vikings' offense was led by Osborn, who had 96 yards and a touchdown. Quarterback Fran Tarkenton completed 14 of 28 passes for 137 yards and one interception. St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart completed 28 of 43 passes for 107 yards and two touchdowns. He was intercepted once—only his fourth of the season.

Hart said the loss to Minnesota and a week earlier to Dallas after seven straight wins does not signal a Cardinal collapse.

"I'm not concerned at all about losing two games," he said. "We've played very well. We got beat by two very good football teams and just barely at that."

Tarkenton acknowledged that the St. Louis offense lost momentum when prized running back Terry Metcalf left early in the second half, just as he did in the Dallas game. Against the Dallas team, Metcalf suffered a knee wouldn't worry me, though, injury and Monday night he had leg cramps.

Viking Coach Bud Grant said: "I wish we had more like him."

Grant said that with St. Louis scoring 10 points in less than two minutes at the close of the first half, he changed his strategy and was ready when the Cardinals went into the same two-minute drill at the end of the game.

"The lift the Cardinals got at the end of the first half made us more concerned about getting first down plays rather than anything else," he said.

"Defensively at the end we were trying to keep them out of the end zone. They got some good catches down there—they've got some good talent."

Down 38-17, the Cardinals rallied to within four points with 1:52 left and then moved from their own six-yard line to the Minnesota 30 before time ran out.

One of the reasons St. Louis had to play catch-up most of the game was Osborn's running.

"Our offensive line is really coming around," Osborn said. "They're moving people. If I can get past the line of scrimmage, I get my momentum going and there are a lot of yards gained."

Quarterback Fran Tarkenton added, "We were running it well. We tried to control the ball game and had good field position on many plays."

Tarkenton scored the winning touchdown on an 11-yard run in the final quarter after Chuck Foreman raced 13 yards for another score.

"I'm a running quarterback," Tarkenton said. "I run them all the way."

Tarkenton was 14 of 28 for 137 yards and one interception. St. Louis quarterback Jim Hart, rated No. 1 in the NFL, completed 28 of 43 passes for 107 yards and two touchdowns. He was intercepted once—only his fourth of the season.

Hart said the loss to Minnesota and a week earlier to Dallas after seven straight wins does not signal a Cardinal collapse.

"I'm not concerned at all about losing two games," he said. "We've played very well. We got beat by two very good football teams and just barely at that."

Tarkenton acknowledged that the St. Louis offense lost momentum when prized running back Terry Metcalf left early in the second half, just as he did in the Dallas game. Against the Dallas team, Metcalf suffered a knee wouldn't worry me, though, injury and Monday night he had leg cramps.

"Terry is no. the whole ballclub," Hart said. "To use him as an excuse for us not winning is ridiculous."

The ninth-year quarterback said he is looking forward to a rematch with Minnesota in the playoffs in December when the NFC East Division titlist plays at the home of the NFC Central winner, Minnesota and St. Louis are both 7-2. However, the Cardinals' lead over the Washington Redskins has narrowed to one game. Minnesota has moved three games in front of the Detroit Lions in the Central Division.

Referring to his aerial successes Monday night, Hart said, "I don't think passing will be that much of a problem in the playoff. I couldn't say it. Dallas, Metcalf suffered a knee wouldn't worry me, though, injury and Monday night he had leg cramps."

Alabama New No. 1 Team

NEW YORK (UPI) — Neither Alabama Coach Bear Bryant nor Michigan Coach Bo Schembechler were surprised when the United Press International Board of Coaches rated Alabama the No. 1 team in the country Monday.

Bryant was pleased by the balloting which gave the Crimson Tide 23 of the 34 first-place votes cast, but said, "It doesn't mean anything. Now I'm interested, but I can't worry about it."

Then the cagey Southerner added unenthusiastically, "It'll give the people we're playing an extra incentive, but I imagine they would have had that anyway."

Still on the Tide schedule are No. 5 Auburn and then an Orange Bowl date with No. 4 Notre Dame that could decide the national championship.

The Crimson Tide's ascendancy to the top spot came through the courtesy of Michigan State, which ruined Woody Hayes Saturday—and maybe his whole year—by upsetting the Big Eyes 16-13. Ohio State had been

No. 1 since the preseason, but fell to third in the new ratings.

Michigan Coach Schembechler said he hadn't expected his Wolverines to be rated No. 1 "because we only won 14-6."

That was the score of Michigan's victory Saturday over Illinois, but Schembechler said, "It's not how you win; it's how many. And right now it's nine."

Alabama and the second-ranked Wolverines are the only major college teams eligible for the national championship still undefeated and untied.

But the Wolverines still have their big game before them, the Big Ten showdown Nov. 23 at Ohio State for the Rose Bowl berth.

The rest of the ratings were also jumbled as many of the nation's top teams took it on the chin Saturday.

Nebraska was sixth and Southern California seventh, but Florida, Texas A&M and Penn State were demoted to the next three spots after losing Saturday.

North Carolina State, which upset Penn State 12-7, was 11th and Miami of Ohio (8-1) was 12th.

Michigan State was 13th after its big victory, while Houston was 14th and Maryland 15th.

Pittsburgh fell from 14th to 16th despite its victory over Temple and Oklahoma State was 17th. Texas Tech was 18th, with Baylor and Tulsa tied for 19th.

NEW YORK (UPI) — The 1974 United Press International Board of Coaches top 20 major college football ratings with win-loss records and first place votes in parentheses.

Team	Points
1. Alabama (23) (9-0)	239
2. Michigan (11) (9-0)	212
3. Ohio State (8-1)	203
4. Notre Dame (8-1)	207
5. Auburn (8-1)	166
6. Nebraska (7-2)	165
7. Southern Cal (6-1-1)	162
8. Florida (7-2)	159
9. Texas A&M (7-2)	145
10. Penn State (7-2)	135
11. North Carolina State (8-2)	131
12. Miami (Ohio) (8-0-1)	128
13. Michigan State (5-3-1)	125
14. Houston (7-2)	122
15. Maryland (6-3)	116
16. Pittsburgh (7-2)	114
17. Oklahoma State (5-3)	113
18. Texas Tech (6-2-1)	112
19. (Tie) Baylor (5-3)	111
20. (Tie) Tulsa (4-3)	111

Note: By agreement with the American Football Coaches, teams on probation by the NCAA are ineligible for top 20 and national championship consideration by the UPI Board of Coaches. Those teams currently on probation are: Oklahoma, SMU, California, Long Beach State and Southwestern Louisiana.

International Format Discontinued

LL Limiting World Series

PETER J. MCGOVERN

WILLIAMSPORT, PA. (UPI)—The Little League announced Monday its World Series, which for the past four years has been won by teams from Taiwan, next year will be restricted to teams from the United States.

Peter J. McGovern, chief executive officer and board chairman of the Little League, said the series will be limited to the four U.S. regional champions, but he declined to give a reason.

"The international format of the annual World Series will be discontinued," McGovern said. The Little League Vice President Robert H. Stritt said no further details would be given regarding the decision.

The teams from Taiwan, who have won the last four years and five of the last six, have been protested against for their series. The last U.S. winner was Wayne, N.J., in 1970.

Teams from the Far East have won seven of the last eight series with Japan the champions in 1967 and 1968.

McGovern, who announced the decision in a Little League newsletter, said the move was reached "following a review and reassessment of World Series competition for children of age 12 and under."

He said the Senior League (ages 13-15) and Big League (16-18) World Series would not be affected and would be played in Gary, Ind., and Fort Lauderdale, Fla. Little League headquarters said the regional championships in Canada, Europe, Latin America and the Far East will be held as usual but the winners will not compete in the series here.

According to Little League spokesman George Gedon, the decision also would affect teams of boys of U.S. service members stationed overseas and those teams from Puerto Rico.

Gedon said it would affect the service teams because "they are considered foreign entries" and Puerto Rico "right now is considered part of Latin America."

Stritt said the 1975 series will be played from Aug. 19 to Aug. 23. He said it has not yet been decided whether it will be a sudden death or double elimination format.

In the early years of the series, which was first played in 1947, only American teams competed but as the league concept grew nearly worldwide, champions from foreign regions were added.

'If You Can't Beat Them, Ban Them'

TAIPEI, Nov. 12 (UPI) — Nationalist Chinese sports officials Tuesday expressed dismay and regret over the U.S. Little League's decision to limit future play to only American teams.

One said he found it hard to believe that American sports authorities, who are known to value the spirit of fair play, resorted to a practice of "if you can't beat them, ban them."

Peter J. McGovern, chief executive officer and board chairman of the Little League, announced Monday at the Little League's headquarters in Williamsport, Pa., that world series play beginning next year will be limited to the four U.S. regional champions. He declined to give a reason.

Recently Peter O'Malley, president of the Los Angeles Dodgers, denied that the Little League's decision to limit Taiwan teams violate age limits.

"They're just better players," he said at Manila.

O'Malley said he believed graduates of Taiwan's Little League would soon be playing in the major leagues of the United States.

Teams from Taiwan, co-chairman of the Little League, posed of youngsters below 13 announced Monday at the Little League's headquarters in Williamsport, Pa., that world series play beginning next year will be limited to the four U.S. Taiwanese would continue to dominate the league in years to come.

Hsieh Kuo-cheng, a legislator and chairman of the Baseball Association on Taiwan said the Little League decision was a "regrettable one."

He said he would appeal to the Little League for reconsideration of its decision. "A world series with only American teams participating cannot be a world series," he said.

He said he hoped at least that American sports authorities would permit "our little baseball players and their American counterparts to exchange visits in the future so that they can continue to enjoy competing with each other."

Hsieh said he is not against the idea of forming a regional competition in Asia even though it can in no way substitute for the world series.

But other sports authorities here expressed the fear that such a regional league would be hard to organize because the Taiwan team would be too strong for any teams other Asian countries might offer.

"We are suffering from a strange phenomenon. We are too good," one said.

Hsieh, who has been credited with promoting baseball among the children on Taiwan, said he was afraid the Williamsport ban would have an adverse effect on young baseball players in Taiwan.

"Our boys started playing baseball long before we joined the world series in 1969. But denying them the chance to distinguish themselves at Williamsport may dampen their interest in the sport to some extent," Hsieh said.

Other baseball authorities in Taiwan were bitter about the ban of non-American teams. One pointed out that the world series was not fair in the first place.

"One team from each continent was allowed but the U.S. each year entered four regional champions of its own," he said.

Still others said they should try to have the world series moved to another country or even Taiwan. "We would of course invite the American boys to join us," one said.

Sports authorities here said they suspected a ban was coming but they were still shocked that it came without any warning.

The Taiwan players' supremacy in the Williamsport series angered many parents of American team members. They repeatedly in the past advocated ousting the Taiwan team.

A number of American sports writers have been in Taiwan to study the training and selecting of teams that go to Williamsport. Their reports said the Taiwan boys trained much harder and took the sport much more seriously than their American rivals.

Mets Rally Over Yomiuri

MATSUYAMA, Japan, (UPI) — Ed Kranepool Tuesday hit a ninth inning three-run homer after a two-run homer in the fourth to give the New York Mets a come-from-behind 7-5 victory Tuesday over the Yomiuri Giants.

It was the Mets' second win against five losses and two ties in nine games with the Giants. The Mets now have a record of six wins, five losses and two ties after 13 contests of their 18-game goodwill series.

The Giants scored three runs in the first inning off southpaw Jon Matlack on a homer by leadoff man, Shigeru Takada, and a double by outfielder Toshimitsu Suetsumu, scoring Shigeo Nagashima, who had singled, and Sadaharu Oh, who had walked.

The Giants went into a 5-0 lead in the third inning when Oh homered off Matlack into the right field stands, scoring is Aoi Shibata. Who had walked.

Rightlander Harry Parker replaced Matlack in the fourth inning and held the Giants scoreless until Bob Apodaca took over in the seventh.

Rightlander Nobuhiro Tamai replaced Horiuchi in the fifth inning and held the Mets scoreless up to the eighth, when Yoshimasa Takahashi replaced him. Torre and Kranepool singled in the eighth and southpaw Kazumi Takahashi went to pitch. Ron Hodges was on second base when Shozo Doi error and Torre scored from third. Then, after two out, Kranepool scored on a wild pitch by Kazumi Takahashi.

Rightlander Jerry Cram replaced Apodaca, who was lifted for a pinchhitter, in the eighth and was credited with his first win in Japan by holding the Giants scoreless in two innings.

The Mets will play a combined team of the Yomiuri Giants and Hiroshima Carp Thursday at Hiroshima.

The line score:

Mets	000-200-023-7	13
Giants	302-000-000-1	8

Matlack, Parker (4th), Apodaca (7th), Cram (8th) and Hodges; Horiuchi, Tamai (5th), Yoshimasa Takahashi (8th), Kazumi Takahashi (8th), Sekimoto (8th) and, Yazawa (5th). WP-CRAM. LP-Sekimoto. Hrs-Kranepool 2, Tadada. Oh.

Secretariat's First Brings $225,000

LEXINGTON, Ky. (UPI) — Lexington, the first mare in foal to 1973 Triple Crown winner Secretariat to be offered at public auction, brought $225,000 Monday night at the second session of the annual fall breeding stock sales at Keeneland Race Course.

The six-year-old mare, a stakes winner who has earned $111,804, is by Royal Levee out of Night of Nights.

Consigned by Seth Hancock, of Paris, Ky., and Fred Foster, Lexington was bought by Tom Gentry she was purchased by Gentry

Woody Won't Appeal Defeat

COLUMBUS, OHIO (UPI)—Ohio State Coach Woody Hayes, still bitter over his Buckeyes' 16-13 loss to Michigan State last Saturday, said Monday there is no appeal of the outcome possible and "our job now is to get ready for the next two games."

Hayes refused to answer questions about the regionally televised game at his weekly press luncheon Monday, but again was critical of the officials' handling of the closing seconds of the contest.

Hayes claimed that after the Buckeyes' Champ Henson was stopped a foot short of the goal line on a play from the one yard line, Spartan players held Buckeye linemen on the ground to prevent them from lining up for another play. "We did not get off but one play in the last 26 seconds," Hayes said.

"In practice, we can run four or five plays in that time," Hayes added. "But in practice, we don't have people holding our players down. The officials were obviously remiss in not stopping the clock."

Hayes, who opened the luncheon by saying "you're not going to hear much from Woody Hayes today, said there was no place to appeal the outcome of the game.

"There will be no appeal," Hayes said. "There can be none. The commissioner is powerless to do anything."

Hayes said that when Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke came to the locker room after the controversial finish "he came only to give us the officials' decision."

Hayes also used the luncheon to again push for the use of the instant replay in situations such as occurred in the game at East Lansing, Mich.

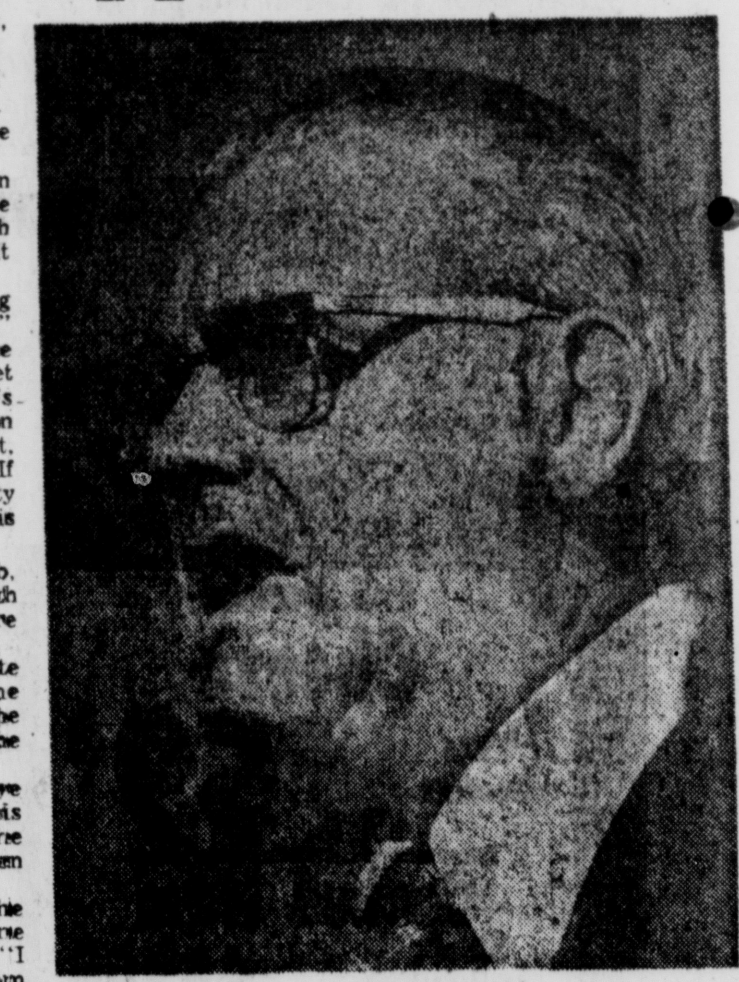

"For years I've been asking for the use of instant replay," Hayes said. Hayes' plan for the instant replay would be to let coaches challenge an official's call and have the play run back. If the coach is correct, the call would be reversed. If the coach is wrong, a penalty would be assessed against his team.

Assistant coach Ralph Staub, who attended the luncheon with Hayes, was a little more talkative than his boss.

Staub said the Ohio State coaches feel there is still time left in the season for the Buckeyes to prove they are the best team in the nation.

Remaining on the Buckeye schedule is a game this Saturday at Iowa and the season finale against unbeaten and second ranked Michigan.

Staub gave credit to the Spartans for playing a "fine game" against Ohio State. "I don't want to detract from them," he said.

Inflation Takes Toll on A's, Dodgers

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Oakland A's know very well that it pays to be a winner and when the Los Angeles Dodgers get their 1974 World Series checks soon they'll find it pays to be a loser, too.

Yet as inflation takes its toll, the A's, who have been compared to the great New York Yankee teams of the past after winning their third straight World Series this year, may find they aren't even rewarded as well as those teams.

After banking this year's checks, the 15 A's who have figured in on a full share of their three championships will have received $67,685. Each of the 31 Oakland players receiving full shares this year will get $22,219.

By comparison the Yankees when they won the World Series in 1926-27-28 and 1936-37-38 averaged less than $6,000 for a full share. But in 1936, a man could get a shave and a haircut, have his shoes shined and go next door for a steak with potatoes and vegetables and a beer all for 60 cents. The same thing today might cost $15-20, even with a WIN button.

Without the inflation factor though, the A's split up a record team total of $736,359. Last year, 27 members of the A's received record full shares of $24,761 apiece.

Thirty-two members of the Dodgers received $15,703.37 apiece, the largest amount ever paid members of the losing losing champions, and the Pittsburgh Pirates, National League Eastern Division champions, per player for the New York each split up $255,680.

The runners-up in the four divisions (Yankees and Texas Rangers in the AL and St. Louis and Cincinnati in the NL) divided $48,579 while the third-place finishers (Boston and Minnesota in the AL and Atlanta and Philadelphia in the NL) split $12,784.

City Wants Brooklyn Arena

NEW YORK (UPI) — City officials have asked the State Sports Authority to consider the development of a new indoor sports complex in Brooklyn.

Monday to Edwin M. Schwenk, the authority chairman.

"I believe there is a compelling mood—and an exciting opportunity—for a Borough President Sebastian Leone, said a recently-comple-city feasibility study "says the potential for a major sports complex exists and identifies a number of promising sites."

The sites include a tract under the Manhattan Bridge, parcels in East New York, Bush Army Terminal, and five sites in downtown Brooklyn.

Corner Hits Decide the Contest

Onteora High Captures Section 9 Field Hockey Title

BOICEVILLE The Onteora High School girls varsity field hockey squad is getting its kicks from corner hits these days enough to enable them to claim the first Section Nine Girls Field Hockey Championship.

First, Coach Carol Okoren's team survived a 1-1 tie with Clarkstown on the basis of a 14-1 edge in corner hits in the first round of the Section 9 tournament. Then it was declared champion, again on the basis of corner kicks edge over undefeated Red Hook High, the 1974 Ulster County Athletic League champions.

The teams battled to a scoreless tie through the regulation game and one overtime period, before Onteora was awarded the title on a 7-3 edge in corner hits.

It was a sweet victory for Onteora, which had bowed to the Raiderettes in its only regular season defeat. The fact that OCS rallied from an 0-3 halftime deficit in corner hits added flavor to the triumph.

Coach Okoren had high praise for both teams. "Offensively, we have played consistent hockey," she said, "but we just couldn't put one past the Red Hook defense which has allowed only two goals this season." On offense, Red Hook had a whopping total of 44 goals.

"In our first meeting," she explained, "we were definitely outplayed by Red Hook, even though the score was only 1-0. We improved after that early-season meeting and I'm not sure Red Hook expected us to be as tough as we were."

The Onteora also felt Onteora "had the psychological edge, as we really had nothing to lose. The whole team was anxious to play Red Hook again and they were delighted to hear that they, too, had won the first round one sectional."

"I feel that both teams should be congratulated for turning in exceptional seasons. Red Hook for winning the UCL and Onteora for taking Section 9." Most of the action in the closely contested game took place between the 25-yard lines, with quick and frequent exchanges of the ball.

With Red Hook leading in corner hits 3-0 at the end of the half, Coach Okoren felt the game would be decided on corners. "We were just too evenly matched," she said.

During the second half Onteora succeeded in penetrating the Red Hook defense more effectively as both teams picked up the pace attempting to get the one goal that could mean victory. Onteora picked up four vital corner hits while the Raiderettes failed to bag one despite several forays into the scoring area.

Red Hook dominated the early action but fine work by Onteora's goalkeeper — Debbie Cease — held the UCL champs at bay. Center forward Colleen Duffy sparked several OCS counter rallies later in the second half.

"She played an outstanding game and was literally all over the field," said Coach Okoren. "Out usual plan of attack with the wings bringing the ball up the field was well defended by Red Hook. They keyed their defensive efforts on Sue Schlegel, who has been effective all season from her right wing position. We then had to work the left side of the field where Linda Williams, Ann Schroeder and Ms. Duffy made their breakthroughs."

"Our defense finally played up to its potential," said Ms. Okoren. "During the season we had our on and off moments in this department and we allowed some goals that should have happened. Cindy Baldus, Kathy Despres, Debbie Tetta, Anita Shukits, Debbie Baldus and Ann Louise Garrison kept constant pressure on the potent Red Hook attack."

Sportside

Charles J. Tiano, Sports Editor

Our detente friends, the Russians, have finally discovered American-style bowling. And, for once, they're not claiming they invented the sport.

Soviet officials recently inaugurated the first bowling center in the Soviet Union. The Brunswick Corporation of America installed the modern, 16-lane center and High Soviet Union, as well as U.S. Embassy and Brunswick officials attended the official opening.

Who knows... Henry Kissinger may yet resolve the SALT talks over a game of tenpins.

It will be the first opportunity for Soviet citizens — Communists and non-Communists — to try their hand at the old American game of tenpins. The cost per game will be 50 kopecks — 68 cents at the official exchange rate. The cost of a game will include the use of rental shoes and a house ball. Can any house in America top that? But, of course, the private enterprise, profit-motive idea has not been popular in the Soviet Union since the revolution.

The first public bowling center in the Soviet Union will be like no other in the world. It has been installed in an air-supported tent, measuring 100x15 at the base and rising 40 feet in the air. Air blowers, in constant operation inside the structure, keep it standing.

Two prominent American professional bowlers—Skeo Foremsky of the PBA tour and Mary DeBarbie Gardner of California, participated in the opening demonstrating the techniques of the game and giving lessons.

Bowling has now achieved international recognition as a sport with persons in more than 50 countries around the world knocking down pins.

Zimmerman, Joan Jameson on Top

Lonnie Zimmerman of Tavern League in New Paltz and Joan Jameson of the Bowlerama Quads are the current high score leaders based on scores reported to The Freeman thus far in the 1974-75 season.

We emphasize this because not all leagues in the county report their scores for publication, although our columns are open to all. This is a choice the leagues make themselves.

Zimmerman's 755 in the New Paltz Tavern is one of the top scores of the past few seasons. Chris Schick, who can be as good as he wants to be, has a 720 and Jim Suski is third with 718.

Joan Jameson's 641 is No. 1 and the best of eight "600" series for women to date. The men's 700 list and women's 600 are well ahead of the 1973-74 season which was virtually a drought for high scores.

The Top Ten in each division according to Freeman records are:

MEN		WOMEN
1. Lonnie Zimmerman, NP Tav 755	1. Joan Jameson, Quads 641	2. Chris Schick, Inter 720	2. Anne Cummings, Quads 636
3. Jim Suski, Ind. Tav 718	3. Pat Van Gaasbeck, MM 632	4. Ron Bruck, City Minor 691	4. Kathy DeCicco, Quads 622
5. James Piro, Sears Mix 690	5. Rody Van Keuren, Quads 612	6. Frank Rittie, Vols 681	6. Paula Tentenowski 608
7. John Gaddis 681	7. Rose Schatzel, Quads 604	8. Bill Noreika, Int. 674	8. Jackie Schoenbacher 603
9. Lou Pulcinella, Int. 673	9. Gloria Nagels 597	10. Ken Woolsey 673	10. Betty Lamoreaux 597

Some Splits and Misses

Greco Brothers' (1064-3040) in the revived International League are the highest team scores of the season... There is a four way tie for men's high single at 279 among Don Van Keuren, Charles Carlson, Willie Travigione and Lonnie Zimmerman... Gloria Nagels (256) and Joan Jameson (255) are one two in the women's division. Best women's scores reported to date for four-person teams are Augustine Insurance's 822-2243.

In the miscellaneous department, Bob Petersen (179), Dick Stoltz (199) and Lynn Marburger (108) have rolled triplicates... Don Lawson converted the double pinocchio (4-6-7-10) in the Friday Mixer.

7-10 Not That Tough Anymore

Remember way back when converting the 7-10 split would always create a minor sensation? Not anymore. Would you believe that 3,000 7-10 splits were converted during the 1973-74 bowling season? How about 3,000 Big Four (6-7-9-10) conversions during league or tournament play in one season? Both are facts, according to the ABC's Awards Department.

And what about perfect games? Those 12 straight strikes that are every bowler's dream? More than 1,250 perfect games were approved in the 12-month period from Aug. 1, 1973 to July 31, 1974. And another 1,200 bowlers came within one strike of perfection before settling for 299 or 298 awards.

Even 800s are Getting Cheap

Perhaps one of the toughest feats to accomplish in bowling is consistency to the point of an 800 series. That's a pair of 267 games with one 266, on an average basis. ABC honored almost 200 mer, who hit the 800 mark last season.

In 1973-74, Phil Spencer of South Bend, Ind. rolled the astronomical total of 858, a 266 per game average. And that was still 28 pins off tying Allie Brandy's record 886.

Elvin Messer, history's most prolific producer of 800 series and 300 games, added once to each of his prized possessions during the 1973-74 season. On the final day, July 7, of the Sullivan (Mo.) Doubles tournament, the 58-year-old native of that city had the 21st 800 (an 802) and the 26th 300 of his career.

John Ferraro's 818 rolled on March 28, 1963, is the only "800" set ever rolled in Kingston.

Today's Dolt Award goes to bowling secretaries who still keep sending in the top six scorers regular leagues and five men and women in mixed leagues. It has been five high and four-and-four for quite some time now.

KBA Keglers Place 3rd

KINGSTON City Bowling Association placed third with 3084. Kingston's net score of 2878 was the highest in the tournament. The team had a middle game of 1001.

The Night Cosell Forgot About The Ball Game

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Howard Cosell may once have been the man you loved to hate. But that is over now. The big-mouthed sportscaster is simply tedious.

The New York attorney would be pundit disrupted last Monday night's NFL telecast of the Rams-49ers game with more inane interviews in the broadcast booth than ever before.

But each interruption allowed Cosell to appear on camera, an opportunity the be-wigged, compulsive talker has rarely eschewed.

The football game, dull at best, became incidental. First there was movie star John Wayne who happened to be in San Francisco for the quickly.

game. While viewers wondered what was going on down on the field, Cosell asked Wayne such pointed questions as what he thought of the contest.

While big Duke stared at the monitor in apparent fascination with his reflection, Cosell sparked into the camera winningly.

No sooner had Wayne left the booth than Andy Williams appeared on camera. Singer Williams seemed nonplussed at finding himself on the tube. At least, Wayne had been a football player at USC.

"Why do you root for the 49ers?" asked Cosell, a question that fell on Williams' unexpectantly.

The singer explained he was a Rams fan and ducked out.

Meanwhile Frank Gifford, perhaps the best play-by-play football announcer in the business, struggled manfully to keep viewers posted on the game. The third man on the broadcasting team, Alex Karas, contributed mightily by singing a bar of Williams' old song hit, "Moon River."

In his own abrasive style, Cosell began reviewing the game on the air, criticizing it for being dull and uninteresting, abetted by Karas while Gifford continued to broadcast the game.

Cosell interrupted the proceedings a third time when he interviewed the manager of ex-heavyweight champion George Foreman.

"Harris pass to Jack Snow was incomplete," said Gifford. "Did George follow the fight in the plan as 'you anticipated'?" Cosell asked the losers' manager.

Gifford would call a play. During the huddles Cosell conducted the interview.

Later in the telecast Cosell interviews Michael Douglas (son of Kirk) simply because he walked into the booth. Douglas co-stars in "The Streets of San Francisco," which is filmed in the bay city.

Finally, Cosell had the cameras turned to Gifford's daughter and a little friend who had stopped by to see Papa Frank at work.

But Cosell saved his nugget for half time.

Throughout the first half he would have with Muhammad Ali, born Cassius Clay. Ali was asked, although one did not necessarily relate to the other.

It was a contest between two massive egos. Intellectually Ali proved himself superior to his inquisitor. He also proved to be more outspokenly honest. He said, "I am the greatest." And while Cosell surely thinks of Cosell in that light, he did not speak out.

Cosell concluded by saying, "Muhammad Ali, you have won me over."

Finally Ali giggled and said, "Great. I win Cosell."

To football fans who had hoped to watch a game and see the usual halftime highlights of games played the previous day, Ali's replies were infinitely superior to the questions Cosell asked, although one did not necessarily relate to the other.

Raiders Jolt Pier 7, 13-0

A startling upset has forced a detour of Pier 7's drive to the A Division pennant in the SAA Touch Football League. The Red Hook Raiders toppled the league leaders 13-0 and projected themselves into the pennant race.

The upset left Pier 7 with a 3-1 record, with Nancy's Lounge second at 4-2-1 and Raiders third with 4-3-0.

The Raiders scored in the first and fourth quarters while holding the powerful Pier offense scoreless. The first TD came on a 4-yard pass from Ken Fraleigh to John Sargent. An insurance touchdown was scored in the fourth quarter when Fraleigh sprinted 30 yards to pay dirt.

An effective pass rush proved to be the Raiders' best defensive weapon.

In the highest scoring game in league history, the Fire Department won sole possession of second place in the B Division with a 42-31 victory over Holy Cross.

The squads virtually scored at will, as the Firemen's Mouse Wolves threw for seven touchdowns and Holy Cross's Bill Noonan fired for four and ran in a fifth.

Wolves hit Ray Brackett three times for completions of 13, 3 and 27 yards. He found Hondo Myers three times (16, 23 and 12 yards) and Greg Wilcox once for the 13-yard line. Noonan ran in from the two and connected on scoring aerials twice each to Kevin Dwyer (23-22) and Mike Fox (5-25).

Howard Johnson's have wrapped up the B Division title with a perfect 7-0 record. Fire Department finished second with 6-2 mark.

Arraign Colorado Native In Stealing Yacht

HILO, Hawaii (UPI) — Buck Duane Walker was arraigned Monday on charges of stealing the yacht Seawind, owned by a mysteriously missing California couple.

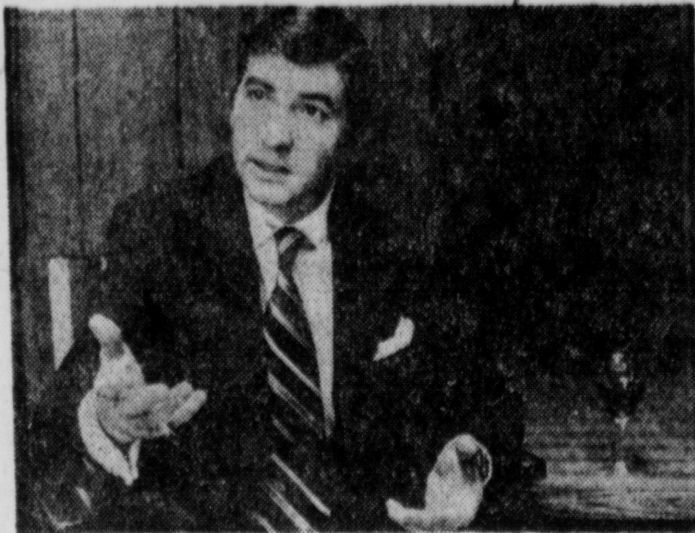

Walker, 36, a native of Mont Vista, Colo., was arraigned by Circuit Court Judge Shunichi Kimura on two counts of stealing the yacht and about $400 in cash. Kimura set bail at $20,000 and scheduled a preliminary hearing for Nov. 21.

Walker, who recently lived in the island of Hawaii, was arrested Wednesday after an 11-day manhunt.

He and his companion, Stephanie K. Stearns, 28, sailed the missing yacht owned by Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Graham Jr., San Diego, into the Ala Wai Yacht Harbor in Honolulu Oct. 28. Miss Stearns was captured but Walker fled when police approached the yacht to question them. Police said the identification numbers on the Seawind were erased.

The Grahams were last heard from two months ago via radio from remote Palmyra Island about 1,000 miles south of here.

Walker's arraignment came one day after minister Ted Livingston conducted private services at sea for the missing couple, at the request of the missing yacht owner by Graham's sister, Mrs. Mary Muncy of Seattle; Wash.

New Suspect Surrenders in Mass. Murder

SPRINGFIELD, Mass. (UPI) — A second suspect in the murder of Kenneth Gayle, 18, of Springfield surrendered to police Monday night.

He was Edward Jones, 25, of Springfield. Jones was charged with murder.

At a District Court hearing earlier in the day, an innocent plea to a charge of murder was entered for Richard Roberts, 19, of Springfield.

Jones and Roberts were accused of shooting Gayle during an altercation Sunday in front of the West Indies Benevolent Club.

RCA Servicemen Continue Strike

CHERRY HILL, N.J. (UPI) — More than 2,800 RCA Service Co. employees who repair RCA televisions and appliances continued their strike today over a contract demand for an additional 30-cent an hour pay increase over a company offer.

The strikers, who staff 179 RCA branches around the nation, rejected a proposed three-year contract last week which called for an hourly pay of some $4.73.

A spokesman for the strikers, who are represented by the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (IBEW), said Monday the offer was about 30 cents less than the employees were seeking.

The IBEW said the service representatives were also seeking a Monday-to-Friday work week and a two-year contract.

The employees had been instructed Sunday night by Charles Pilliard, national president of the IBEW, not to report to work.

RCA Service Co. and the IBEW negotiating committee had reached agreement Oct. 27 on a new three-year contract before 55 per cent of the IBEW members voted to reject the proposed pact.

Correction

Hurley farmer Henry Paul said today that he is allowing persons to dig unharvested potatoes planted by him on property near the intersection of Routes 28 and 209 because the potatoes have suffered blight, have been frozen, and cannot be stored because they will rot. Paul said a report in Monday's Freeman that he was giving the potatoes away because of the low market price was not correct.

Gibson Would Bow for Letters

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An exchange of letters to be made public today, UPI has learned, drew E. Gibson has already asked President Ford to withdraw his nomination as federal energy administrator in an exchange of letters to be made public today, UPI has learned, President "any embarrassment, saying there would be a battle in Congress over the nomination. The problem is that Gibson has a separation contract with a subsidiary of Cities Service, to pay him $880,000 over a 10-year period.

Food Case Before Top Court

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Supreme Court has agreed to decide whether the president of a nationwide food chain can be held responsible for rodent infestation in a warehouse, up unsanitary conditions in food of Acme Market, Inc., a nationwide chain headquartered in Philadelphia. The charges were that food in Acme's Baltimore warehouse was gnawed and that Park, president of the company, knew of the complaint.

Off Serious List

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UPI) — Richard Nixon is off the serious list, eating regular food and walking around his hospital room. He may be well enough to go home to San Clemente this week to await examination by a panel of Watergate court doctors. Nixon's physician, Dr. John Lungren, said Monday that if problems improve, "We are hopeful that he can be discharged from Memorial (Hospital) this week." One of Nixon's legal problems disappeared at the same time, as attorneys for 21 anti-Nixon activists dropped their attempt to compel him to give testimony for use in a North Carolina civil suit, saying Nixon's poor health ruled out any hope of getting the deposition they wanted. Lungren, in his daily statement, said Nixon "is off the serious list and his condition continues to improve.... Nixon has resumed his regular diet.

Bankers Trust announces The Inflation-Fighting Free Checking Account.

It's going to take all of us working together to beat inflation. We'll continue to do our bit by giving you a free checking account — if you agree to keep at least $200 in one of our savings accounts. As you know, saving instead of spending is another good way to fight inflation. We have many savings plans to choose from. In addition to our regular savings accounts, the high-interest Bankers Passbooks listed below will qualify you for a free checking account. While it ordinarily takes an initial minimum deposit of $500 for these Bankers Passbooks, we'll continue to ask a minimum of $200 in connection with our inflation-fighting free checking account offer. It's our way of encouraging you to save money.

Minimum deposit on these Bankers Passbooks only $200 if you open a free checking account at Bankers Trust!

Savings Service	% Per Annum	Effective Annual Rate
Bankers Passbook: 2½ to 4 years maturity • Compounded daily	6.50%	6.81%
Bankers Passbook: 1 to 2½ years maturity • Compounded daily	6.00%	6.27%
Bankers Passbook: 90 days to 1 year maturity • Compounded quarterly	5.50%	5.70%

Federal regulations permit withdrawals from time savings accounts before maturity provided rate of interest on amount withdrawn is reduced to regular passbook rate and three months' interest is forfeited.
